BANK LINE BOAT HARD AGROUND OFF PRATAS ISLAND

City Of Cambridge's
S.O.S. Call

H.M.S. SUFFOLK DISPATCHED

The City of Cambridge, the 7,000 tons cargo-steamer of the Bank Line, went ashore on Pratas Reef, 180 miles from Hong Kong at 5.30 a.m. yesterday morning, and is stated to be in a precarious position owing to the proximity of the typhoon.

Wireless information was immediately despatched to Hong Kong and H.M.S. Suffolk, the County Class cruiser which arrived from the North on Friday, left yesterday morning to render assistance.

DESPERATE S.O.S. CALL

The vessel, in her message to Hong Kong, asked for the immediate assistance of a salvage tug as she was hard and fast on the rocks and her starboard side bumping the reef. Her bottom plates are stated to be leaking.

The vessel is ashore to the south-east of Pratas Island, about 2½ miles south-east of the lighthouse. The rough weather outside Hong Kong harbour is given as the cause for the grounding.

The City of Cambridge, carrying a crew of 80, left Manila on Wednesday at noon, with a cargo of about 1,000 tons of general cargo for Hong Kong.

Weather conditions at the time of grounding were bad, but later reports show that the conditions are improving.

TYPHOON UNLIKELY TO AFFECT COLONY

180 Miles South And Moving West

The typhoon, which has kept No. 1 signal hoisted in Hong Kong since Thursday night, is stated to be situated about 180 miles south of the Colony, moving slowly westwards. Yesterday morning the position of the typhoon was given at about 200 miles S.E. of Hong Kong.

The following vessels are within 300 miles of the Colony and within radio communication: Gretrudo Marsh, City of Baghdad, Haining, Tong Maru, Achilles, Empress of Asia, Taiki Maru, Holchow, Tatamara Maru, Hiram, Nortonia, and Santhia.

WEATHER FORECAST

The weather forecast, issued by the Royal Observatory yesterday evening predicts north-east winds, strong to a gale, cloudy with some rain.

PAPER ATTACKS BARNBY MISSION TO MANCHUKUO

"Cavalier Treatment"
Of China

HYPOCRISY ALLEGATIONS

Shanghai, Yesterday.
"Sacrificing a whale to catch a sprat" is the caption of an editorial in the "Hankow Herald" one of the leading Chinese newspapers in Central China, on the Barnby Mission to the so-called Manchukuo.

It asserts: "What can be picked up in Manchukuo after the Japanese have done with it will in no way compensate for what can so easily be lost in China." It refers to the "cavalier treatment" of the Mission in not visiting China and adds that it is obvious that members of the mission must act and speak contrary to Britain's professions at Geneva in regard to the so-called Manchukuo. — Reuter.

LEGATION STATUS QUESTION

Tokyo, Yesterday.
The elevation of the Italian Legation at Tokyo to the status of an Embassy, has re-directed attention to the question of Japan following suit.

It is authoritatively stated, however, that Japan will make her own decision in the matter separately from other countries.

Japan does not consider it opportune to elevate the status of the Legation at Peking at present. — Reuter.

"Spank" Them

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.
(By Telegraph Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received October 6, 9.08 a.m.)

Washington, Yesterday.
Observers predict that President Roosevelt will verbally spank United States bankers when he speaks at the American Bankers' Convention on October 24, for alleged failure to aid the Administration in the same way as British bankers are aiding Britain.

He is also expected to say that the Administration abhors uncontrolled inflation. — United Press, per S. E. Levy & Co.

The Jockey Club's $2 betting innovation was hardly given a fair trial yesterday, owing to the wet weather, but the following gives an interesting comparison between yesterday's pool figures and those for the first eight races for the last $5 betting meeting:

KWOK CHUN HANG DECIDES TO MAKE AUSTRALIAN VISIT

First Chinese To Swim
Against World's Best

BRITISH RECORD HOLDER

Kwok Chun-hang, China's breast-stroke swimming champion and holder of the Colony's record for the 100 yards and the British title holder for the 200 yards, has accepted the invitation to swim in the Victorian Championships at Melbourne Australia, in connection with the Centenary Celebrations. He will leave Hong Kong on December 18 on the s.s. Chang-te and return in February. It is understood that the invitation includes a free passage to Melbourne and full expenses paid.

The local champion will be the first Chinese to swim against the world's best.

The invitation, which was received from Mr. Fawcett, Secretary of the Melbourne Centenary Celebrations, while Kwok was in Shanghai winning laurels for the Colony in the Triangular Intercontinental contest, was forwarded to Shanghai, but due to misunderstanding, he declined the invitation. On his return, however, he re-considered and accepted the offer.

ROBERTS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY AFTER 12 HOURS

DEATH SENTENCE
PASSED

DROWNED SWEETHEART TO BE FREE TO MARRY ANOTHER

WILKES BARRE, YESTERDAY.
ROBERT EDWARDS, A 23-YEAR-OLD AMERICAN YOUTH, WAS TODAY FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING HIS SWEETHEART, FREDIA MACKENIE, WHO WAS EXPECTING A CHILD, WHILE SWIMMING IN A LAKE, SO THAT HE COULD BE FREE TO MARRY ANOTHER.

The trial, popularly known as the "American Tragedy Case" opened last Tuesday. The jury deliberated for 12 hours before reaching their verdict. Sentence of death was passed.

A feature of the trial was that Theodore Dreiser, the noted novelist, was engaged by a newspaper to write the reports of the trial, owing to the great similarity between the crime and that outlined in Dreiser's novel. — Reuter.

They assert that the Generalissimo has come to Hankow to discuss the progress of the anti-Communist campaign, especially that in Hupeh, Hunan, and Szechuen, and that he will return to his headquarters at Nanchang when his work is completed. — Reuter.

REBEL ATROCITIES REPORTED MADRID UTILITIES ARE PARALYSED

LACK OF SCAVENGING SERVICE
THREATENS CITY WITH DISEASE

NAVAL DISTURBANCES
FLATLY DENIED

WHILE INTERRUPTED COMMUNICATIONS CONTINUE TO VEIL THE TRUE EXTENT OF THE RED REVOLUTION WHICH IS SWEEPING THE PROVINCIAL AREAS OF SPAIN FOLLOWING THE DECLARATION OF A GENERAL STRIKE BY THE SOCIALISTS, COMMUNISTS, AND SYNDICALISTS, RELIABLE REPORTS SHOW A STEADY INCREASE IN THE DEATH ROLL DUE TO RIOTING.

Latest unofficial figures place the deaths at 75, though it is certain that at least 31 persons have been killed. Two thousand arrests have been made. Gruesome stories of atrocities perpetrated by the rebels at Oviedo, in the Asturias, have been related by the military authorities there.

THE SITUATION IN MADRID REMAINS TENSE AS THE CITY UTILITIES ARE PARALYSED. AN APPEAL HAS BEEN BROADCAST TO THE CITIZENS TO BURN ACCUMULATING RUBBISH, WHICH IN THE ABSENCE OF A SCAVENGING SERVICE, THREATENS TO PRECIPITATE DISEASE EPIDEMICS.

Waving a bus to stop at the junction of Yen Chow Street and Lai Chi Kok Road at 10.20 o'clock last night, three robbers boarded bus No. 567, and at the point of revolvers stole a silver wrist watch and $5.90 in money from Cheng Tak, the conductor.

The robbers, two of whom were armed with revolvers perceived that there was no passengers in the bus, waved to Cheng On, the driver of the bus, to stop. All the robbers were reported to be between the ages of 26 and 30, and all spoke the Hakka dialect. No arrest was reported to have been made last night.

CHINESE CUSTOM STATIONS HERE NOT DESIRED

OFFICIAL AGITATION
AT CANTON

TELEGRAM TO NANKING?

(From Our Own Correspondent)
Canton, Yesterday.

Official approval of the agitation against the establishment of Chinese customs stations in Hong Kong by the Ministry of Finance in Nanking is indicated to-day by the Kwangtung Provincial Government, which has notified the Canton Chamber of Commerce that their circular telegram opposing such a move has been forwarded to the South-west Political Council for consideration.

The Chamber of Commerce opposed the setting up of a custom house in Hong Kong on the ground that the trade and prosperity of Canton would be transferred to that Colony, and it accordingly issued a circular telegram to that effect.

If the approval of the South-west Political Council is forthcoming the Kwangtung Provincial Government will forward the telegram to the Central Authorities. The Chamber's telegram is serving also as a sort of petition.

DUTCH OFFICIAL'S STATEMENT

Further Interpretation
Of Rubber Remarks

The Hague, Yesterday.

It is intimated that the Dutch Economic Director's statement, made yesterday, is not intended to convey the impression that a 30 per cent. rubber restriction is sufficient. — Reuter.

The Director of the Dutch Government's Economic Department holds the opinion that the present price of estate rubber is satisfactory. Nineteen a lb., at which he opines the British rubber industry is aiming, will not only stimulate production in areas where restriction is not enforced, but will lead to an increased output of reclaimed and synthetic rubber.

PRODUCE STAKES RESULT

London, yesterday.—Shah Ali, at 6 to 4, won the Produce Stakes to-day by a short head from Ben Marshall, at 20 to 1, in a field of 15 starters. Lady Gabriel, at 18 to 8, was third; half a length behind Ben Marshall. — Reuter.

THE INTERLOPERS

By "SAKI"

IN a forest of mixed growth somewhere on the eastern spurs of the Carpathians a man stood one winter night watching and listening, as though he waited for some beast of the woods to come within the range of his vision, and, later, of his rifle. But the game for whose presence he kept so keen an outlook was none that figured in the sportsman's calendar as lawful and proper for the chase; Ulrich von Gradwitz patrolled the dark forest in quest of a human enemy.

The forest lands of Gradwitz were of wide extent and well stocked with game; the narrow strip of precipitous woodland that lay on its outskirts was not remarkable for the game it harboured or the shooting it afforded, but it was the most jealously guarded of all its owner's territorial possessions. A famous lawsuit, in the days of his grandfather, had wrested it from the legal possession of a neighbouring family of petty landowners; the dispossessed party had never acquiesced in the judgment of the Courts, and a long series of poaching affrays and similar scandals had embittered the relationships between the families for three generations.

The neighbour feud had grown into a personal one since Ulrich had come to be head of his family; if there was a man in the world whom he detested and wished ill to it was Georg Znaeym, the inheritor of the quarrel and the tireless game-analyzer and raider of the disputed border-forest. The feud might, perhaps, have died down or been compromised if the personal ill-will of the two men had not stood in the way; as boys they had thirsted for one another's blood, as men each prayed that misfortune might fall on the other, and this wind-scoured winter night Ulrich had banded together his foresters to watch the dark forest, not in quest of four-footed quarry, but to keep a look-out for the prowling thieves whom he suspected of being afoot from across the land boundary. The roebuck, which usually kept in the sheltered hollows during a storm-wind, were running like driven things to-night, and there was movement and unrest among the creatures that were wont to sleep through the dark hours. Assuredly there was a disturbing element in the forest, and Ulrich could guess the quarter from whence it came.

He strayed away by himself from the watchers whom he had placed in ambush on the crest of the hill, and wandered far down the steep slopes amid the wild tangle of undergrowth, peering through the tree-trunks and listening through the whistling and skirling of the wind and the restless beating of the branches for sight or sound of the marauders. If only on this wild night, in this dark, lone spot, he might come across Georg Znaeym, man to man, with none to witness—that was the wish that was uppermost in his thoughts. And as he stepped round the trunk of a huge beech he came face to face with the man he sought.

The two enemies stood glaring at one another for a long silent moment. Each had a rifle in his hand, each had hate in his heart and murder uppermost in his mind. The chance had come to give full play to the passions of a lifetime. But a man who has been brought up under the code of a restraining civilisation cannot easily nerve himself to shoot down his neighbour in cold blood and without word spoken, except for an offence against his hearth and honour. And before the moment of hesitation had given way to action a deed of Nature's own violence overwhelmed them both.

A fierce shriek of the storm had been answered by a splitting crash over their heads, and ere they could leap aside a mass of falling beech tree had thundered down on them. Ulrich von Gradwitz found himself stretched on the ground, one arm numb beneath him and the other held almost as helplessly in a tight tangle of forked branches, while both legs were pinned beneath the fallen mass. His heavy shooting-boots had saved his feet from being crushed to pieces, but if his fractures were not as serious as they might have been, at least it was evident that he could not move from his present position till some one came to release him. The descending twigs had slashed the skin of his face, and he had to wink away some drops of blood from his eyelashes before he could take in a general view of the disaster.

At his side, so near that under ordinary circumstances he could almost have touched him, lay Georg Znaeym, alive and struggling, but obviously as helplessly pinned down as himself. All round them lay a thick-strewn wreckage of splintered branches and broken twigs.

Relief at being alive and exasperation at his captive plight brought a strange medley of pious thank-offerings and sharp curses to Ulrich's lips. Georg, who was nearly blinded with the blood which trickled across his eyes, stopped his struggling for a moment to listen, and thus gave a short, snarling laugh.

"So you're not killed, as you ought to be but you're caught, anyway," he cried; "caught fast. Hol what a jest. Ulrich von Gradwitz snared in his stolen forest. There's real justice for you!"

And he laughed again, mockingly and savagely.

"I'm caught in my own forest-land," retorted Ulrich. "When my men come to release us you will wish, perhaps, that you were in a better plight than caught poaching on a neighbour's land, shame on you."

Georg was silent for a moment; then he answered quietly: "Are you sure that your men will find much to release I have men, too, in the forest to-night, close behind me, and they will be here first and do the releasing. When they drag me out from under these damned branches it won't need much clumsiness on their part to roll this mass of trunk right over on the top of you. Your men will find you dead under a fallen beech tree. For form's sake I shall send my condolences to your family."

"It is a useful hint," said Ulrich fiercely. "My men had orders to follow in ten minutes' time, seven of which must have gone by already, and when they get me out—I will remember the hint. Only as you will have met your death poaching on my lands I don't think I can decently send any message of condolence to your family."

"Good," snarled Georg, "good. We fight this quarrel out to the death, you and I and our foresters, with no cursed interlopers to come between us. Death and damnation to you, Ulrich von Gradwitz."

"The same to you, Georg Znaeym, forest thief, game snatcher."

Both men spoke with the bitterness of possible defeat before them, for each knew that it might be long before his men would seek him out or find him; it was a bare matter of chance which party would arrive first on the scene.

Both had now given up the useless struggle to free themselves from the mass of wood that held them down; Ulrich limited his endeavours to an effort to bring his one partially free arm near enough to his outer coat pocket to draw out his wine flask. Even when he had accomplished that operation it was long before he could manage the unscrewing of the stopper or get any of the liquid down his throat. But what a heaven-sent draught it seemed! It was an open winter, and little snow had fallen as yet; hence the captives suffered less from the cold than might have been the case at that season of the year; nevertheless, the wine was warming and reviving to the wounded man, and he looked across with something like a throb of pity to where his enemy lay, just keeping the groans of pain and weariness from crossing his lips.

"Could you reach this flask if I threw it over to you?" asked Ulrich suddenly; "there is good wine in it, and one may as well be as comfortable as 'one can. Let us drink, even if to-night one of us dies."

"No, I can scarcely see anything; there is so much blood caked round my eyes," said Georg, "and in any case I don't drink wine with an enemy."

Ulrich was silent for a few minutes, and lay listening to the weary screeching of the wind. An idea was slowly forming and growing in his brain, an idea that gained strength every time that he looked across at the man who was fighting so grimly against pain and exhaustion. In the pain and languor that Ulrich himself was feeling the old fierce hatred seemed to be dying down.

Success For The Beret Predicted

SHALLOW CROWN IS DEAD

THE LATEST MILLINERY DESIGNS

London.
HOW insistent the word beret is! By the time this article appears every woman will be wearing one of the big irregular berets in fringe or velvet, with the effect of being lifted at the back.

Many of them have new veils, either the meat safe veil which is woven circular of irregular mesh, or a square veil which looks exceptionally captivating with a pointed beret, or one of the quite wickedly expensive and adorable hand-crocheted horsehair variety.

These berets will be such a success that we had better get them, wear them and scrip them with the utmost speed.

Looking still further ahead we find one designer toying with the high flowerpot crown and the bent-down brim even for sports hats. Another milliner has launched his designs with deep crowns, he persists in calling them "Toques"—deep-crowned small hats worn well down on the head and trimmed with feathers and veils.

We are going to wear our hats well down on the head, with or without brims, and the line will be forward like a bird poised for flight. The leading modellers of millinery insist that the shallow crown is dead.

Flared Tunics Are New

Quilted Taffetas Make Smart Dresses

FLUTED JABOT

If you have always longed to wear a tunic, now is your chance! But only if you are tall and slim. It is unwise to "cut" your figure with a tunic line if you are inclined to be short and, shall we say, plump. The new tunic line shows a flared or bell effect at the hem, with a straight skirt.

A new day dress has a neckline which is cut straight and throat-high in front and low and square at the back. This is given a rolled turn-over collar which turns itself into a scarf crossed over at the back and tucked inside the frock.

If you prefer front importance, a good idea is to insert a deep rectangular vest of satin in off-white or a good contrasting colour into the bodice, and put on to it a fluted jabot of the same material as the dress.

Please note that it is the quilted taffetas which make some of the smartest afternoon dresses and suits, so if you have been lucky enough to pick up any of it at the sales you have an up-to-the-minute frock for the making.

PETTICOATS RETURN

Paris.
THE autumn interpretation of the swagger coat is a loose wrap with a shoulder yoke like a smock, and deep armholes. Lucile Paray makes nearly all her smock coats, both for day and evening, to fasten down the back.

It was, of course, inevitable that, with the slit skirts, petticoats should return, and Worth shows nearly all his evening frocks with the most attractive pleated net or lace petticoats. Beneath one dress he even puts a petticoat made of feathers.

RIBBED MATERIALS

HEAVILY ribbed or matchless materials in silk and wool, which are used impartially for day or evening dresses, will be seen everywhere this winter.

SHEK KAM PUI'S ERROR IN LOCAL HARBOUR SWIM

Kwok Chun-Hang Keeps Straight Course To Win

REMARKABLE PERFORMANCE BY MISS YEUNG SAU-CHUN

MAKING A FALSE TURN ON PASSING THE J.C.I.L. STEAMER, S.S. TJISONDARI, DURING THE ANNUAL CHINESE CROSS-THE-HARBOUR SWIM YESTERDAY, SHEK KAM-PUI, KWANGTUNG PROVINCIAL AQUATIC CHAMPION, WHO WAS THE FAVOURITE FOR THE RACE, WAS TAKEN SOME 300 YARDS OUT OF HIS COURSE WHILE IN THE LEAD, CAUSING HIM TO LOSE THE RACE TO KWOK CHUN-HANG, CHINA'S BREAST-STROKE CHAMPION.

The race, which is the season's classic event for Chinese swimmers, started from a point near Channel Rocks, Whampoa Docks, Kowloon, across the harbour to the South China Athletic Association's bathing pavilion at North Point, a distance of approximately 2,000 metres.

The event was the final race on the programme of the eleventh annual aquatic meeting of the South China A.A., bringing to a close the swimming activities of the local Chinese.

Five ladies were included in the total entry of 24 swimmers; and Miss Yeung Sau-chun, sister of Miss Yeung Sau-king, China's lady champion, did remarkably well to take fifth place, beating many strong male swimmers.

The Start

From the start, the three prominent contenders, Kwok Chun-hang, Shek Kam-pui, and Wong Sun-man, took the lead swimming strongly. On nearing the S.S. Tjison-dari, which was anchored in mid-stream at about the half-way distance, Shek Kam-pui chose to swim around the stern of the vessel, the others taking the opposite end. This decision caused him to move about 300 yards out of his course; a handicap which he was unable to recover, and, in spite of a magnificent spurt he lost the race yards.

Wong Sun-man, who was swimming level with Kwok Chun-hang, swerved to the right, while Kwok kept on his course and, aided by an incoming current, reached the Association's pavilion in 23 minutes and 42 seconds. Shek Kam-pui just managed to beat Wong.

Girl's Fine Effort

Miss Lee Ngai-ying, a diminutive swimmer of about 15 years of age, put up a gallant display, and finished the course looking none the worse for her efforts.

The entire field of 24 swimmers finished.

The results were:

- MRN:—
1. Kwok Chun-hang, 23 min. 42 sec.
2. Shek Kam-pui, 24 min. 52 sec.
3. Wong Sun-man, 24 min. 52 sec.
LADIES:—
1. Miss Yeung Sau-chun, 28 min. 40 sec.
2. Miss Au Yin-chiu, 31 min. 11 sec.
3. Miss Mok Sok-lun, 31 min. 02 sec.
The following completed the course:—
Ho Yee-ming, Kam Shiu-wah, Choi Chi-kin, Wong Kung-yun, Wu Chi-tak, Wu King-tak, Hung Fu-shan, Luk Chai-fai, Wong Shi-chuen, Chan Man-pang, Chan Sai-shek, Chiu Ko-fan, Lam Ki-man, Fong Lai-ching and Fung Ngau-yin; Misses Lee Ngai-ying and Yeung Kau-wah.

Prizes were presented by Mr. Lo Yuk-tong, Chairman of the South China Athletic Association, at the conclusion of the race.

Club Forced To A Draw

THE EAST LANCS THIRD DIVISION TEAM YESTERDAY ESTABLISHED A RECORD GOAL-SCORING FEAT THAT WILL PROBABLY NOT BE BEATEN THIS SOCCER SEASON. THEY SCORED 13 TIMES WITHOUT REPLY AGAINST THE RAILWAY TEAM. OF THIS PHENOMENAL TOTAL SANDFORD CLAIMED FIVE GOALS!

South China "B" strengthened the opinion that they are going to be very serious challengers for the title this season when they overwhelmed the Artillery by 5 goals to 1 under conditions which should have favoured the Gunners.

The Club have yet to be beaten. Yesterday they shared two goals with the East Lanes who were badly handicapped by a defensive half-back line.

CLUB AGGRESSIVE BUT ARE HELD BY EAST LANCS TEAM

Pote Hunt & Robertson Outstanding

MILITARY DEFENCE FAIL TO AID FORWARDS

The Club and East Lanes shared the points and two goals when they met on the Club ground yesterday under depressing conditions.

Standards of play were reversed from last week's showings, the Club having decidedly improved in both combination and individual play, while the East Lanes, seemed to find conditions too much for them. The East Lanes, failed to appreciate the fact that, though their style of play was eminently suitable to a team with an outstanding forward line, their efforts in holding both halves and backs in defence only lessened to a considerable extent their attacking power. A fact which was very noticeable yesterday.

Neither side took advantage of the weather conditions, for though a slight rain fell continuously throughout the game, making both the ball and the ground exceedingly slippery, not one real long-shot was attempted at goal.

Howe, on occasions, gave evidence that he can indeed play good football, but these periods were by no means sustained. Brown and Taylor, however, received valuable assistance from him. The wingers worked energetically throughout, and, though at times their efforts were slightly misplaced, they, nevertheless, gave a passable showing.

Powerful Half-Backs

The half-line as usual provided the source from which their teammates derived their confidence.

Pote Hunt, by his clever tackling and distribution, and Robertson, with glorious passes, were outstanding. Their combined efforts effectively stopped many dangerous attacks.

SOUTH CHINA "B" BEAT ARTILLERY IN GREAT STYLE

Stern Challengers For Title

GUNNERS MAKE CHANGES BUT GAME ALREADY LOST

Playing on a very heavy ground, and in an incessant drizzle, South China "B" had things practically their own way at Caroline Hill yesterday when they defeated the Artillery by 5 goals to 1.

South China were far too good for the Gunners, and it seems a foregone conclusion that the Chinese "A" and "B" teams will finish at the top of the Championship table this season. It will have to be an exceedingly good team to beat them. Their football, as a team, is excellent; no energy is wasted the ball is passed about with perfect precision; every pass goes to its appointed place, and a man is always there to receive it. So much cannot be said of Service teams generally particularly the Artillery on yesterday's play. The Gunners seemed to have little, if any, idea of combination, and when they did endeavour to pass, such passes were weak and seldom reached their objective or else were misdirected.

"How Many?"

From the commencement of the game, after a few moments play, the question was obviously, "How many?" That the Chinese were going to win was fairly apparent; they ran through from the opening whistle, and Lal Shul-wing found the net after 10 minutes when he dribbled round both Wroe and Hopkins in a space of less than two feet, and sent in a terrific drive to the corner of the net which Durham had no earthly chance of stopping.

The Chinese left wing, Cheuk Shek-kum and Lee Shek-yau were very fast and very dangerous, and came near to scoring several times in the first half, only excellent keeping by Durham and great defensive work by Wroe keeping them out.

Wroe's Great Save

Lee Shek-yau almost scored just before half time when he sent in a pile-driver from about 12 yards, Wroe only just getting his head to it and deflecting it for a corner. Play was held up for a moment for Wroe, in stopping the drive, had been knocked almost unconscious.

Durham, Wroe and Pardee saved the Artillery from a much heavier defeat. Shots from all ranges and angles were saved with apparent ease by Durham, and the five goals which were scored against them were good goals, three of them being undoubtedly due to the poor play by Hopkins.

Three of South China "A's" beat footballers, Fung King-cheung, Ip Pak-wah and Tam Kong-pak, are unable to make the trip to Hong Kong from Canton to-day for their team's League fixture against the Police at Caroline Hill. In consequence, the team will have a hard job to secure two points.

Owing to the "stand-by" order issued by the Naval Authorities yesterday both Navy fixtures—v Lincoln in the First Division, and v Athletic in the Second Division—have been cancelled.

The Chinese Athletic fixture against St. Joseph's has also been cancelled owing to several Canton Air Force players being held back in Canton in preparation for the Borders visit to Canton to-day.

HIGHEST DIVIDEND ONLY $16.80

RACING HEART WINS FROM JUST THAT

JOHNNIE HEARD LEADS JOCKEYS

NO fewer than seven favourites won at yesterday's race meeting, the first to be held at the Valley with $2 betting facilities! The result was that the highest dividend was only $16.80, and the double paid only $11.60.

Rain kept many away from the meeting, but there was a fairly large attendance present when His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Lady Peel, arrived in time for the third race.

The best race of the afternoon was undoubtedly the Canberra Handicap which Racing Heart just won from Just That in comparatively slow time, due to the wet track. Mr. Johnnie Heard was the most successful jockey with two wins in five starts, while Messrs. Mackie and Grayburn headed the owners' list with a win and a second.

The rain kept many from taking the first opportunity of the $2 parimutuel, but a fair crowd saw ten ponies go to the post in the Nathan Handicap.

Pride of Taingao was left at the start, and was never in the running as a result. Macaroni drawing tenth position, was foiled in an attempt to secure the lead before the Golf Club corner, but had secured the rails at the foot-ball stands with King's Bounty at his side and Hot Speed and Gladiator behind.

In the back straight, Bright View came up with a rush, while Brechin began to make his presence felt. Macaroni still held a slight lead from King's Bounty when entering the home straight, but Brechin, the favourite, coming up on the outside, had the race well in hand when the stands were reached. Macaroni secured second place three lengths behind, while Bright View won third place in an exciting finish from King's Bounty and Gladiator in that order. Spinaway was sixth.

Brechin paid $5.30 for a $2 bet and the first prize in the cash sweep was worth $513.80, as compared with 1,136.80 for the first race at the seventh extra.

Favourite's Easy Win
Racing Pluck fully justified the tremendous faith placed in him by the public, and secured a comfortable win from Sarabande, which pipped Cavalcade on the post for second place, King's Parade, was fourth and National Day, second favourite, was fifth.

Melter Skelter was left badly at the gate and Cavalcade at once went into the lead, closely followed by No Fear, and In Good Time. At the football stands, however, Chesterfield was running second.

Racing Pluck, lying fourth in the back straight, caught Cavalcade on the corner into the home straight and won without effort, while Mr. Ip brought Sarabande through in the last 20 yards to beat Cavalcade by half a length to pay $10.80.

The cash sweep first prize was up $10.

St. Joan Beaten

Mr. Proulx got St. Joan away to a good start and led for seven-eighths of the way, being passed by the long-striding Australian Boy 50 yards from the post. The Goose, which dead-heated with Australian Boy last time out, was third with Lucy Glitters fourth.

The Goose went out after St. Joan and Lucy Glitters at the start, and Australian Boy was fourth at the Rock where Mr. Davis gave him the rein to win in convincing manner and pay 3 to 1.

Zero Shuts Bolt

Zero was out of the gate like a bolt, but Soldier of Germany, a hot favourite, was after him, passing him in the home straight to win by four lengths from Ribble, which finished strongly ahead of Monoplane. Zero was fourth.

Zero after a promising start—he opened with a 0.28.3 quarter—faltered at the half-way mark, thus allowing Mr. Deltz to record his first win of the second half.

Tao Tak, which delayed the start after a display in the paddock, finished nowhere.

There were 523 successful backers of Soldier of Germany for the first leg of the "Double".

CARDINALS WIN

DETROIT FAIL BEFORE PAUL DEAN IN WORLD SERIES

ST. LOUIS ONE UP IN BASEBALL CLASSIC

COCHRANE'S TWO PITCHERS

New York, Yesterday. Frankie Frisch's St. Louis Cardinals smashed their way to a second victory in the third game of the World baseball Series at Sportsman Park, St. Louis, yesterday, defeating the American League contenders, Detroit Tigers, by a margin of 4 to 1.

Paul "Daffy" Dean, brother of Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, was moundman for the victorious Cardinals throughout the game.

Mickey Cochrane, $100,000 manager of the Tigers, selected Tommy Bridges as his hurler in the opening stages of the clash, but when the rival hitters slugged out two runs in the fifth innings Elton Hogg was substituted in desperation. He, however, failed to hold the Cardinals who were invincible.

HONOURS SHARED

St. Louis won the first game at Navin Field, Detroit, by an 8 to 3 margin but Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe pitched the Motor City team to level terms in the second meeting by a 3 to 2 tally. Yesterday's game was the first of three World Series games to be played on the St. Louis diamond.

The scores were:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	4	9	1
Detroit	1	8	2

Reuter.

St. Louis Cardinals gained their fifth National League pennant in eight years when they out-ran the haughty New York Giants, 1933 world champions, in a thrilling race towards the close of the season. The Dean brothers, "Dizzy" and "Daffy" were undoubtedly the team's tower of strength, "Dizzy" alone giving the "Cards" 7 shut-out wins and 30 victories during the season. "Wild" Bill Hallahan, hero of the 1931 duel with Philadelphia Athletics, defeated the Tigers twice in an exhibition game this year, but failed on Thursday in the second match against the "Bengals of the Middle West". The "Cards" won the world title in 1926 and again in 1931.

AFTER 14 YEARS

Mickey Cochrane, the Tigers' new manager, enabled the middle west team to break the eastern monopoly of the American League when he guided the Motor City to their first American pennant win in 14 years.

OF IMPORTANCE TO MOTHERS
— SOME "KLIM" FACTS

The casein (the curd of milk) of KLIM precipitates in fine, soft, friable curds which are easily digested and assimilated. The value of such is indicated by the fine curd characteristic of breast milk.

In the Klim spray process the large fat globules of the fresh milk are broken into very small globules, THUS EXPOSING A LARGER SURFACE for digestion and assimilation.

These advantages undoubtedly account for the better growth curves obtained with Klim. A famous pediatricist found that on the average, children gained weight faster on Klim.

KLIM is a product of the Borden Co. known as the largest manufacturers of milk products in the world. It is your assurance of a food of the highest integrity.

MELBOURNE AWAITS THE DUKE

The Most English City
In Australia

Life And Outlook In "London Of The Antipodes"

(By ARCHER THOMAS)

The Duke of Gloucester left London on September 4 for Marseilles to join H.M. Cruiser Suvar, in which he made the voyage to Australia. The main purpose of his 12,000 miles journey is to attend and declare open the celebrations of Melbourne's 100th birthday.

LAST century some adventurous Englishmen from Tasmania made their way from the coast of the Australian mainland up a stream. Finding a suitable landing place, they decided it would be the place for a village. It was June 8, 1835, when they made that decision.

To-day, nearly 100 years later, Melbourne, a village no longer but the capital of Victoria and the financial centre of Australia, counts 1,108,492 inhabitants.

For the Duke of Gloucester the city is preparing a reception greater than has ever been accorded for a previous royal visit. The celebrations, beginning this month and extending into next year, comprise a most elaborate programme.

London Of The Antipodes
What is it like, this city which now is awaiting its air race and the royal visit? Repeatedly I am asked the question. Melbourne is not quite like any other city in the world. It is certainly the most English city of Australia—the London of the Antipodes. English ideas and sentiments are expressed more there than anywhere else in the Commonwealth.

Melbourne people, talking about their city, refer almost invariably to the St. Kilda-road, a magnificent tree-lined boulevard leading to the sea; and to Collins-street, which rolls Harley-street, Bond-street, Piccadilly, Regent-street and the City all into one. Both thoroughfares always remain in the memory of world travellers.

You can see Melbourne's civic pride even in its lamp-posts—quietly ornate in the most ordinary streets. Wide roads are split into sections by trim gardens, or lawns for different types of traffic. The trams are painted green so that they tone with the green trees bordering the foot-paths. Fabulous sums are spent in maintaining beautiful gardens. Municipal plans, new buildings and beautification schemes are big news in the newspapers.

All this civic consciousness is intensified by the approaching celebrations. New bridges are appearing, roads are being repaired, and alms cleaned up.

People Dress Like Those "At Home"

Although no white man had set foot on the site of Melbourne 100 years ago, the city has an atmosphere of tradition and old-fashioned solidity. Things are still done because they were done decades ago. There is a genuine public sentiment about the passing of an old building or landmark, just as there is in London over the demolition of Waterloo Bridge.

Melbourne is undoubtedly the coldest city on the mainland, so the people dress more like the people "at home." The police wear helmets very much like those of the London police.

English ideas are followed in scores of ways, largely because they are English. Henley Regatta is copied in the Henley-on-Yarra carnival every year. Crowds go wild with excitement as they pack the river bank for the annual head-of-the-river races. Public schools compete, not universities. Boat-race night in Melbourne is the excuse for gaiety, as it is in London.

Melbourne had traffic lights in regular use long before London had, and has forgotten the time when prosecutions first resulted from ignoring the amber warning. But it is behind London in "noise disarmament." It is just beginning to get worried about that.

As in London, hot chestnut barrows are to be found in the streets in winter, and a few coffee stalls ("pie-carts" in Australia) trade in the streets at night. One hansom cab remains in the city, maintained largely by a sentimental regard for the old regime. Near its stand is the headquarters of a popular motor service which runs nothing but first-class cars.

Restrictions On A Sunday
While the English idea is uppermost, Americanisms have crept in. Beside the chestnut barrow you will find a "hot dog" cart. In front of old-time taverns, hidden in narrow side streets, are modernistic milk bars. Here all kinds of milk drinks are served by the hundred in full view of the street. Next to the conservative tailoring establishment, which will refuse to cut a suit contrary to its own style, stands a modern department store, embodying all the latest American ideas.

One of these stores, Melbourne boasts, has the greatest floor space of any shop in the Empire. Another proud claim is that more people pass through the city's main railway station, Flinders-street, than any other single railway station in the world.

Melbourne can reasonably claim to have well outgrown the status of a provincial city, as the Englishman sees it, yet in some ways it has a definitely provincial outlook. Its social conduct is largely dictated by what Australians call "wowsers," or "Mrs. Grundys." Restaurants and dancing places have to close early. In the whole city only two or three high-class restaurants remain open after midnight. (Strenuous efforts are being made to overcome this state of affairs for the centenary). Liquor restrictions are found at every turn.

Sunday is a dead day in the city. Almost everything is closed. Organised sport is forbidden. At many of the beaches backless bathing costumes are banned. Men must wear full-size bathers. No Sunday newspapers are produced. Like the other capitals of Australia, Melbourne is within easy reach of the sea, hills and mountains. Only fifty miles away is a fine ski-ing ground, which provides winter sports for thousands during the coldest months of the year. After an easy two-hour run by car you can be ski-ing in deep snow more than 4,000 feet up on the top of Mount Donna Buang. This will be news to many English people who think all Australia is mostly hot.

PENINSULA HOTEL SEASON

Tuesday Dinner Dances Weekly Feature

TO START THIS WEEK

A foretaste of the social activities for the approaching Winter Season will be provided at the Special Dinner Dance to take place in the attractive Roof Garden of the Peninsula Hotel on Tuesday, on which occasion the charming American versatile dancing sisters Marya and Maria will provide entertainment from their extensive repertoire of clever and fascinatingly amusing numbers during the evening.

The importance of the event will be enhanced by the opening of the new Roof Garden Cocktail Bar. This particular Bar, with the latest ideas in its type of construction, in very conveniently situated adjoining the Grill Room, and the charming simplicity, cheerful colouring, and modern furniture will undoubtedly make it a most popular spot during the ensuing social season. Commencing with the Tuesday function, dinner dances are to be a regular weekly feature every Tuesday at the Peninsula Hotel.

CHINESE RESCUE AMERICAN

Pulled Out Of Harbour In Early Hours

An American seaman, C. Danlison, of the American Mail steamer President Grant probably owes his life to several Chinese boatmen who rescued him from the harbour between the Star Ferry and Queen's Pier at 1.45 o'clock yesterday morning.

The police report states that Danlison was under the influence of drink when he was rescued. He was sent to the Government Civil Hospital, suffering from immersion.

I have felt hotter in London than ever in Melbourne. And I have felt colder in Melbourne's winter than in London's. But here is a big difference. While Melbourne can be freezing in the winter it can also be warm. It has an average of more than six hours of sunshine a day throughout the year.

For months now Melbourne has been enthusiastically occupied by the centenary plans. One of the most important ceremonies will be the dedication and opening of the Shrine of Remembrance by the Duke of Gloucester. The massive building of white stone, whose appearance has been as vehemently criticised as it has been highly praised, is so constructed that every year at 11 a.m. on Armistice Day a beam of sunlight will shine upon a central stone of remembrance through a minute aperture.

The Finish Of The Air Race
The England-Australia air race has drawn the attention of the world to Melbourne. There the whole scheme originated, and there the race will finish. The Royal visit attaches Empire importance to the centenary occasion. Innumerable sporting events, backed by rich prizes, are drawing athletes from all parts of the globe. World organisations, religious, scientific and commercial, will hold conferences there.

Pageants, exhibitions and shows will draw thousands from all parts of the country. Hundreds of people who have never seen Australia are going there. Every part of the English-speaking world will be represented.

'ASPRO'

THE old idea that a dozen medicines were needed for a dozen complaints—that laying up for indefinite periods was necessary—that it was also necessary to take dangerous drugs and narcotics—was an illusion. 'ASPRO' has dispelled it. For it is the medicine that takes the place of a dozen medicines, because, after ingestion in the system, it is an internal antiseptic—an anti-pyretic or fever reducer—an anti-periodic—a powerful germicide, and a solvent of Uric Acid, and, therefore, banishes the causes of numerous complaints. That's why 'ASPRO' banishes headaches in five minutes. It's the time test for quick action, and it stands the test of time. 'ASPRO' soothes the irritable—brings sweet sleep to the sleepless—relieves rheumatism in one night—smashes colds and influenza at inception. Furthermore, 'ASPRO' does not harm the heart or the stomach. It can be taken by all, from child to parent, anywhere, any time. The price is within the reach of all.

'ASPRO' Hunts Out Neuralgia and Rheumatism

148 Nicholson Street,
Deas Siva,
It gives the great pleasure to pen these lines of appreciation for the wonderful benefit I have derived through taking your 'ASPRO' Tablets. I have been for some time a martyr to NEURALGIA and RHEUMATISM, and have tried various remedies, but without any beneficial results. I was advised by a friend to try 'ASPRO', which advice I took, with remarkable results. After taking six tablets, my Neuralgia disappeared. I continued taking two after every meal, and can now thankfully say that I am free from any pain, either Rheumatic or Neuralgic. You will, therefore, quite understand the pleasure I derive in recommending such a wonderfully simple medicine to other sufferers.

I remain,
Yours faithfully,

The Hankow Loop

OF all the subjects that may usefully engage the attention of the Economic Commission, nothing is more promising than the ten mile loop required to link the Kowloon-Canton Railway to the new Canton-Hankow line. No doubt the Commission is not at all likely to overlook it, nor is the Government oblivious of the new openings for trade that would be developed but there can be no harm in emphasising the advantages of a very practical scheme that ought to have all possible energy behind its backing. Our Railway is doing better than it has ever done before; we have met the management of the Canton section in a very fair spirit of compromise in granting them the additional seven per cent. share of the joint profits, and there is a professional camaraderie than may be enlisted to secure that the Railway interest shall use its influence on the side of a big increase of traffic that ought to be equally lucrative to both sections.

In a closely calculated business matter like this there is always a danger that a sound proposition may be to some extent smothered by keeping too closely to ledgers and estimates. A touch of imagination occasionally goes a long way. The slogan "Cape to Cairo" made much history, and created much new enterprise, when it was enunciated by Cecil Rhodes; though certainly no one has yet travelled from one of those points to the other without getting off a train. It may be doubted whether anyone ever will; and even whether anyone will ever want to. The "herring-bone" structure of the transportation system, giving access to the products of the interior to the coast, where they can use the cheaper water transport, is the natural plan for a big continent with no great waterways easily navigable. There are difficulties about both Congo and Nile, and neither meets the requirements of the great stretches of country which can be most profitably farmed by the white man. But a herring bone must have a spine; that is the function of the Railway that already runs to Elizabethville in the Belgian Congo from the South, and from Alexandria in the North to far below Khartoum. The intervening section has become easily traversed by road and car or trolley; a development not dreamed of when the slogan was first devised. And there can be no doubt that in days to come, when the lateral bones have done their work of opening up their own regions, the interval in the spine will become also a payable and practical sphere for Railway interconnection. It is not a bond of union amongst those whose work makes them neighbours and customers of each other that is really stronger than the various national diversities which are supposed to be all-powerful during the period of restrictions through which the whole world is passing at present.

This little loop at Canton has untold possibilities. We want someone with a prophet's mantle to give us a new slogan "Kowloon to Calais." There again it need not be supposed that anyone will want to step on board a train at the Kowloon docks and sit in the observation car for endless days and nights through Siberia and Europe. What would be useful would be a link between one system of transportation and another. The piercing of the long barren stretches by the ribbon of steel has already been done; all that remains is to link up some populous areas that already have a developed commerce which at present runs East and West rather than South and North. It is never possible to give exact figures of the amount of trade that would be diverted; it is enough to realise that while some would be diverted much more new trade would be created.

The post-war stage of checking trade at every frontier by jealous embargos and tariffs is too suicidal to last. There will surely come a reaction when people who want to sell will insist on being left free to deal with people who want to buy. Railwaymen have all the advantages of road transport, when it is a question of a long haul; and goods are not subject to ennuil. What needs to be clearly envisaged is that the common interest in making a big railway system pay and prosper is not a mere commercial deal but a very solid and constant reminder of common interests that makes local exclusiveness look absurd. When the Soviets and Japan have finished their manoeuvring for the purchase of the C.E.R., Manchukuo and Vladivostok will have a common interest that will be a strong bond of amity; and the same process would be automatic if our Colony were linked to Hankow.

SONGS AND HOWLS

NOT even a murder case was read with so much interest and discussion as the "Peak Party Case," and in the ordinary way it would be too late after the lapse of a week to refer to it. But there were one or two points in the evidence which seemed to touch a reminiscent chord. It was stated that the songs to which objection was taken on the ground that they had been but too heartily rendered were from the "Scottish Students' Song Book" and the witness demurred to the use of the word "howling" in connection therewith. A little bit of confidential history in connection therewith may be safely divulged after the lapse of more than forty years. The book was the first fruits of an excellent institution which came into existence in the early nineties in the Scottish Universities, when each University elected a Students' Representative Council to deal with all matters of general interest. One of the first activities was the appointment by each of the four Councils of a representative to prepare a Song Book, and in due course the services of Sir Herbert Oakley, then Professor of Music at Edinburgh, were secured to prepare the settings. In due course the first edition appeared, rather a flimsy affair in comparison with some of the later ones. It took a very short time to realise that Sir Herbert, who was more familiar with the trained tenors of a well disciplined choir, had set many of the choruses too high, and in fact had throughout demanded a standard of execution which was distinctly beyond the average Student, whose voice was frequently in course of recovery from the "breaking" stage. The available stock was soon sold out, and it was resolved that a new edition should be prepared with the addition of a number of American College choruses that had been invented with the object of volume rather than art; and all the settings were written down to a convenient key which would dispense with the need to find an accompanist who knew enough to transpose at sight. I regret to have to confess completely in this fell work as a member of the revising committee; and still more to confess that we kept in mind the sort of unmusical young man who tells you that he never sings "except in Church;" in fact we even experimented on some specimens of the class, and refused to pass anything that they found beyond them. The results passed all expectations. Edition after edition was called for. What number they have reached now I do not know, but some years ago the figure eighty was passed. Changes have been made and some of the old favourites have been dropped and new catches inserted, not always with improvement; but the collection is still essentially the same.

SURPRISING CHINESE ENTERPRISE

AMERICAN AID FOR BRITISH AIR PLANS IN CHINA

LOCAL PREPARATION NECESSARY

(By Our Aviation Correspondent.)

THE chief more or less local progress in Civil Aviation, since I commenced these articles some four months ago been in Canton, and I might say that it has been the only local progress. Canton, which at that time, was a very doubtful starter in the matter of Civil Aviation, subsequently was dropped out altogether, after suffering several serious setbacks on the Shanghai-Canton run.

The Chinese, however, have displayed a splendid spirit of enterprise, and now there are four lines running from Canton, and there are immediate prospects of the main one, from Canton to Shanghai, being improved. As I mentioned a fortnight ago, the new Junker plane, which flew from Germany to Shanghai in eight days, has been earmarked by Eurasia Airways for this run, and it is expected that she will make her first flight as an airliner some time next month. In the meantime, I understand from a friend in Shanghai, who is touring the interior of China on propaganda flights to popularise commercial aviation and air mails.

SAFE CHINESE LINES

Some of the smaller Chinese air-lines are not recognised as being the safest form of travel, but I understand the big lines—C.N.A.C. and Eurasia, which are run under the fatherly eye of Pan-American Airways and the Deutsche Luft-Hansa Airways, respectively—are recognised as being almost as safe as the big European lines.

British enterprise is still wrapped in gloom, as far as commercial aviation goes in the Far East. A tentative offer of Pan American Airways to run a line from Hong Kong to Manila some two months ago was more or less squashed in the bud by the British Government, who required reciprocity regarding permission to fly across Chinese and American Territory before permitting free use of British ports to foreign machines.

From what I can gather, the American plan to fly from Hong Kong to Manila was very tentative, and had never gone more than through its initial stages.

AMERICAN HELP

A very encouraging factor, is that American enterprise, through Pan-American Airways, is keen on

MARQUIS DE FICALHO.

This is the tenth of the exclusive "Sunday Herald" series of sketches of leading Colony residents by Mr. A. S. Konyak, the talented Hungarian artist.

Called to the responsible post of Consul-General for Portugal in Hong Kong, in August, the Marquis de Ficalho succeeded Dr. Alves Guerra, having been appointed by the Foreign Office with the acquiescence of the Colonial Office.

A Lieutenant of Artillery and a Barrister-at-Law of the Coimbra University, the Marquis is a descendant of a noble Portuguese family. During the Great War he served with distinction in France for two years, part of his service being the British forces. As a campaigner he acquitted himself with honours, being awarded the Victory Medal, the War Cross, the Legion d'Honneur, the Crosses of the Military Orders of Christ and of Avis, and the Campaign Medal. He was also mentioned in despatches. In addition he possesses the decoration of Medal of Philanthropy.

A.D.C. TO GEN. LOPES

After the Armistice, he was appointed A.D.C. to General Craveiro Lopes, commanding the 1st Military District of Portugal, with headquarters at Oporto. During his appointment there the Marquis made several journeys to France, being entrusted with special missions by his Government.

He later came to the Far East as A.D.C. to General Lopes, when the latter was appointed Governor-General of Portuguese India and was subsequently appointed

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 124.

The Sha-tin District

Another afternoon, Sept. 29, was spent in the wooded villages to the south of Tido Cove in the hope of seeing again the party of Flower-peckers seen the previous Saturday. This time we left the main road near the Japanese golf course, and followed a path skirting the golf course to the stone foot-bridge which crosses the Shing Mun river. The first turning to the left along a bund separating a paddy district from the mangrove swamp brought us immediately into a bird district.

We saw no rare birds and the only winter migrant observed was a Streak-eyed Wagtail seen previously in Kowloon. From this bund we saw a number of interesting birds. A Black Drongo was hovering insects from a small clump of bamboos, further away was another drongo and in between a Dusky Shrike was also busy feeding. Presently the Dusky Shrike flew to the first clump of bamboos, flew at the Drongo and chased it away. Some Doves, a pair of Tailor Birds and a flock of the common Crested Mynahs were noticed and then a white splash on the neck of a bird perched in a Hibiscus thicket caught our attention. It was a Little Kingfisher the first of two or three seen that afternoon.

We continued along the bund and as we walked we saw a brilliant arrow of turquoise blue flash past, the unmistakable White-breasted Kingfisher; two more were seen later on. But the most beautiful bird seen, also from this same bund, was a Black-capped Kingfisher; its black head, white collar and brilliant cobalt blue back make recognition easy. It flew into a tree and we crept close and had a good view. From Tsok Pok Hang we walked through the villages in turn to Kak Tin keeping to the seaward side of the Police Station. The three common bulbuls were seen, Chinese (a few), Crested (in abundance) and Redvented (a small flock); two Rufous-backed Shrikes were seen and heard, they are noisy birds but can sing quite decently if they try. A small flock of the Chinese Spotted Munia was noticed in a clump of bamboo, jolly little birds like small sparrows with speckled breasts. Two Chinese Pled Magpies flew across and a solitary White Eye left one Banyan for the shelter of the next. A Kite in the sky, an abundance of Chinese Tree Sparrows (the common sparrow of Hong Kong) and a flock of noisy Babblers completed our list of birds. A small list but it was a short walk and it is still too early for the winter migrants—flycatchers, pipits, redstarts stonechats, warblers and hawks.

On the following afternoon on Stanley peninsula were seen a pair of Sandpipers and a Reef Heron. The Common Sandpiper, Tringa hypoleucos, remains here the whole year but we have no records of its nesting in the Colony. The Eastern Reef Heron, Demigretta sacra, is a species about which we know little. It may frequently be seen singly or in twos or threes along the more rocky coasts of the island and territories; Cape d'Aguilar is a favourite locality. Crabs appear to be the principal food. La Touche says "Kwangtung coast migrant, spring and early summer" but he also adds that it may breed somewhere on the coast of S.E. China. A large slate grey bird easily recognised by its size and habits.

COURT SENTENCE SUSTAINED

Mistaken Identity Plan Fails

BAG-SNATCHING CASE RE-HEARD

The rehearing of the case, for which Mr. M. A. da Silva had applied, against Li Ming, the 32-year-old licensed hawk, who was sentenced to four months' imprisonment on September 23 for snatching a hand-bag from Pun Chi, a 20-year-old woman at 4 p.m. on September 27, was held before Mr. Wynne Jones this morning.

Detective-Sergeant Kennedy stated that the police had been looking for the complainant, but had been unable to find her. The witness, Leung Sun, however, was in court so it was decided that he should be cross-examined on the identity.

Mr. Silva stated that he had been instructed by the defendant's people that they had visited the complainant and the witness and that both had admitted that it may have been a case of mistaken identity.

When asked by Mr. Silva if the defendant was the man who had snatched the bag, Leung Sun answered that he was positive on the matter. "I am afraid that the instructions on which you are working are not very reliable," said Mr. Wynne Jones to Mr. Silva. "As the witness has stated that he is sure that the defendant was the man, the sentence will have to stand."

MORE BULLISHNESS ON WALL STREET

Brokers State Offerings Are Scarce

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.
(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received October 6, 7.40 a.m.)

New York, Yesterday. More bullishness was apparent on Wall Street yesterday. Favourable offerings were scarce, the prospect of a cessation of the gasoline war in the southwest, and some feeling that California issues are oversold.

Unfavourable factors were the reports of American buying of English bonds and the unfavourable car loadings. —United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

LOCAL FASHION PARADE

Unique Gown Display
By Aurelia's Ltd.

SOCIETY MEETS AT HOTEL

One of the most colourful and unique displays of fashionable gowns ever seen in the Colony was staged yesterday at the Roof Garden of the Hong Kong Hotel, by Messrs. Aurelia's Limited, whose new store is opening in the Alexandra Building tomorrow. It was a preliminary private exhibition of the frocks which will be on sale at the opening, and, judging from the rapt attention of the society ladies who are spell-bound for two hours, carefully observing each creation as it was gracefully displayed by a beautiful mannequin, there will be no small demand for these fashionable frocks.

Over 300 invitation cards had been issued to the leading society ladies of Hong Kong, and the fact that on a Saturday morning and a Race Day, over a refreshment table around the edge of the Roof Garden was crowded with evidence of the keen interest in the novel display.

Roof Garden Reserved

Messrs. Aurelia's Limited reserved the Roof Garden from 10 a.m. until noon, and provided refreshments. The "Revelers" orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. J. Silverio, with Mr. Tony Ruivever singing the vocal refrains, and Mr. G. Aquino making the announcements were in attendance.

Right lovely young ladies acted as mannequins, two of them being constantly paraded to and from the raised dais under the glare of powerful spot lights, which brought out the sheen, rich colouring, and artistic curves of the various gowns, in addition to the sparkle of the jewelled buckles and trimmings.

These sports and afternoon and evening frocks and gowns are the very latest styles from New York, having only arrived in the Colony yesterday.

Messrs. Aurelia's Limited are one of the leading firms in Manila in their line, and have branches in Singapore and Java. Their Hong Kong Branch is being opened in the shop formerly occupied by Watson's Wine and Spirits Department in Alexandra Building.

PRECIOUS BLOOD CONVENT

Bazaar and Fete On October 13 And 14

FUNDS BEING SOUGHT FOR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The Convent of the Precious Blood will hold a bazaar and fete, under the distinguished patronage of Lady Peel, on October 13 and 14, at the Chinese Catholic Young Men's Society, No. 10 Caine Road.

The opening ceremony will be performed by His Lordship, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Mgr. H. Valorta on the first day at 8 p.m. The purpose of this function is to raise funds in aid of the Children's Hospital and the Orphanage, which are run by the Sisters at their convent at Sham-shuipo.

The Committee, it is learned, will attempt to run the bazaar on a bigger scale this year, making it worthy of patronage for the sake of charity as well as for entertainment. In addition to the offering by the sisters of a large quantity of knitted and embroidered articles, suitable for house-hold use, there will be various goods, generously donated by local firms and factories. Aiming at giving good value for money, the Committee have imported from Germany a large quantity of beautiful toys and dolls, which will be awarded to winners of the numerous interesting games of skill.

This year, the disposal of the souvenir tickets, issued at $1 and $2 each, though appearing to show a decrease in comparison with previous years, owing to the bad times, has so far reached a fair number, and, as there are still a few more days before the function opens, the Committee hope that more purchases of these tickets will be forthcoming.

The following constitutes the committee of the bazaar:—President, Rt. Rev. Mgr. H. Valorta; Vice-president, Mr. R. C. H. Lim; Chairman, Tao Yung-kwong; Vice-chairman, C. M. Kwan; Hon. Secretary, Chan Wai Chuen; general committee: Messrs. Lai Chung To; J. Monro; So Shing Hon; Li Chun Wah; Tam Shou-son; Li Tak Chi and Dr. Y. Y. Tang; Business Manager, Chan-Wai Ming.

FESTIVE MACAO CELEBRATION ON NATIONAL DAY

TOWN EN FETE FOR OCCASION

GOVERNMENT HOUSE BALL

Macao was en fete on Friday for the most important celebration of the year, Portuguese National Day, marking the twenty-fourth anniversary of Republicanism in Portugal. Owing to the birthday of Confucius, according to the Lunar Calendar, falling on the same day, the occasion was marked by even greater festivity than usual.

Commencing at 6 a.m., when, after sounding the "Reveille" at Government House, the Municipal Band marched through the town, the celebrations continued throughout the day, concluding with the outstanding social event of the year, the Ball at Government House.

At 8 a.m., the official ceremony of hoisting the national flag was carried out at Government House, and at noon, a salute of 21 guns was fired. The salute was followed by a formal reception at Government House, at which His Excellency the Governor, Lieut.-Colonel Antonio Jose Fernandes de Miranda, received officials of the military and civil departments and leading residents of the Colony.

Not until darkness had fallen, however, did the town assume its most festive air. Sunlight was the signal for a blaze of lights in the main streets and the start of the Chinese procession, consisting of hundreds of lanterns and symbols of Chinese mythical lore, the most striking being the huge illuminated dragon, which swayed in a grotesque manner to the strains of Chinese music, greatly to the appreciation of the thousands of spectators who thronged the route.

Huge gateways, erected in the Avenida Alameda Illicita, and decorated with a myriad coloured lights, added a bright touch to the bizarre scene.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE BALL

Strangely contrasting with the spectacular demonstrations in the business section of the city was the formal atmosphere at Government House, where the leading residents of Macao and a number of foreign guests attended the Ball given by His Excellency the Governor and Mrs. Miranda, commencing at 10 p.m.

"DELIBERATE FALSE EVIDENCE"

Malicious Perjury
In Court

MAGISTRATE'S ATTACK

"You and other scoundrels very nearly made me wrongfully send a man to prison. You have deliberately and maliciously come here and lied to me. I am going to give you a remand to enable you to engage a counsel for defence, as I intend to punish you," said Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate's this morning before sentencing Li Ng-mut, a complainant in a case, $75, in default six weeks' imprisonment for perjury.

Fung Ki, the defendant, was alleged to have gone to the first floor of No. 276 Reclamation Street at 3 p.m. on October 3, and attempted to steal a fan. The complainant and two witnesses stated that they had seen him trying to take it.

The defendant stated that he had gone to see a man called Wong Ming, who kept the complainant, to get some wages from him, and after an argument he was struck on the arm with a opium pipe. As he was running away he was arrested and charged with attempted larceny.

The complainant and witnesses all stated that Wong Ming was not in the Colony at the time. After a remand, however, an independent witness was called in who stated that Wong Ming had been in the Colony on the day in question because he had called on him.

At the conclusion of what Mr. Wynne Jones called the "worst piece of deliberate false evidence that he had ever heard," Fung Ki was discharged.

Sacrifice Now Law In Human Life

Giving Never Ends Until Life Passes Away

Examples From History

(By the Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan.)

THE light of a common candle in the window of a little cottage on the seacoast shone far out across the waters. It was in the far North of Scotland, in one of the Orkney Islands. By the window sat a frail, grey-haired woman busily working at a spinning wheel, pausing now and again to trim the candle's steady flame. And fishermen heading for home, knowing that the light could be relied on, came safely in, past the dangers of that coast.

For more than fifty years that woman tended her little lighthouse. In those days there were no others along that shore. When she was a young girl, her father returning in his fishing boat, had been wrecked upon a reef called Lonely Point. Next morning his body was found washed up upon the shore. When it had been laid in its last long resting place, she lay down until the evening. Then she rose, lit the candle, put it in the window, drew up her spinning wheel and began her night vigil for the unknown out at sea.

All night long and all her life long that watch of love and light continued. From youth to old age, through winter and summer, storm and calm, that humble lighthouse beacon never failed. She turned night into day, reversing the whole order of her life, holding everything else subject to her self-imposed task of love. And through the long years that followed many a fisherman out at sea, and many an anxious woman watching by hearth and cradle, sent up heart-felt thanks for that steady light, and many a life was saved, of which no record could be kept.

The story is told by Gordon, in one of his books, and he goes on to say, that in it you find the whole story of sacrifice. A need—no one to meet it—the need passing into an emergency—a heart torn to bleeding by the emergency thrust blithely home—and then sacrifice—lifelong—that others might be saved from what she herself had suffered. And that story is being repeated with endless variations in every land and in every clime.

Law In Human Life
For sacrifice has come to be a law in human life. It is one of the marks of which we commenced to think last week—marks we should have upon our lives and characters, as individuals, and more especially if we are professing to follow in the footsteps of Christ our Lord.

Sacrifice attends us, faithfully from the cradle to the grave. The giving of oneself for others begins with the beginning of life, and never ends until life has passed away. Each one of us came into the world through the sacrifice of the mother who bore us. And that same spirit attends our baby years and childhood's experiences, our school days, and our maturity. The more faithfully those who make up your life circle yield to the law of sacrifice, and give of themselves to you, the finer and stronger you grow to be.

Nothing worth while has ever been done without sacrifice. Every good thing done has cost someone his life, and that life was given out with a wrench, or in the slower and more painful way of being lingeringly given out through years of steadfast doing and enduring.

Everyone who has done something worth while for others, has spilled some of his life blood into it. His name and work may have become known, or he may belong to the larger number whose records are known only in the books of God.

Everything Demands Sacrifice
The Nations that are most free cost most in the lives of men. Every church, every mission station has had to use red mortar as its walls went up. Every inch of ground gained for liberty and for truth, is stained with the blood of the advance-guard. Anything that will really help, that is going to last, must have a bit of our very selves put into it.

A famous statue stands in the Parisian Gallery of Fine Arts. It was the work of a genius, who like so many, lived in a garret. One midnight, when the statue was just finished, a sudden frost fell upon Paris. The sculptor lay awake in his fireless garret, and thought of the still moist clay, fearing that the pores would freeze, and the dream of his life be destroyed in a night. He rose from his bed, took the only blanket that covered him, placed it over the statue, and lay down again. In the morning he was found frozen to death. He was gone, but he lives still in the world of his art. He that saveth his life shall surely lose it, but he who gladly gives his life for the Master's sake, will receive it back again in princely measure.

A Child's Intuition
A mother was dying in one of the slums of our great cities—that bolt upon our civilization. As her life was ebbing away, she called to her aide the eldest girl, and confided to her charge the rest of the family. The months rolled on, and the heat of a terrible summer bred disease in that foul slum. The girl caught it, and lay at death's door. She knew it, and called to her side the next eldest child, and said, "Looking after you has taken up so much time I haven't had a chance to go to the preaching. What shall I say to Jesus, when I meet Him?" The other girl, with a flash of heavenly intuition, quietly said "Don't say anything—just show Him your hands."

Yes, He knows the meaning of scars, because of His own. They tell Him of your love. They cement our fellowship with Him, as nothing else can do.

The Greatest Sacrifice
Nineteen hundred years ago, through the gate of an ancient city, there poured out a howling mob. In the midst was a band of soldiers, guarding a figure battered and bruised and bleeding, trailing the beam of a cross on which He was to die. Slowly they wended their way, along that road that over since has been full of sacred memories, until they came to the brow of a green hill outside the city wall. There came the sound of hammers and nails, and a few moments later, that cross stood stark against an eastern sky.

A hush of awe, comes over our spirits when we realize that even for the Son of God Himself there was no escape from the law of sacrifice. His was a life of sacrifice through all the years, and then greatest when that life so long being given, was given clean out. Across the centuries, His voice whispers in our ears again this morning, "All this I did for you, what are you doing for Me?"

Give me a faithful heart, likeness to Thee, That each departing day, henceforth may see, Some deed of kindness done, some work of love begun, Some wanderer sought and won, something for Thee, It may cost us something, but what does that matter, what He did for us, cost Him His very life.

TRADE RECOVERY IN BRITAIN

New Evidence In Bank Weekly Returns

NOTE: CIRCULATION EXPANSE

London, Yesterday.
Further evidence of improving trade conditions in Britain is found in the weekly returns of the Bank of England.

For the past week note circulation, which mainly represents the actual cash in the hands of the public, has expanded by nearly another £4,000,000, and now stands over £7,000,000 higher than at this time last year.

Bankers' clearing house figures show a slight setback this week, but since the beginning of the present year they have recorded a remarkable expansion of £2,450,000,000. This mainly represents the increased turn-over of cheques in connection with the country's business and industry, and also its stock exchange investments. Although the latter have probably been much heavier this year, the large part of the increased money turn-over is due to the increasing activity in trade and industry.

Clearing figures may be said to cover, wholesale trade, and note circulation forms a rough index of retail business. Both are in a very healthy state. — British Wireless Service

SEVEN FAVOURITES CELEBRATE THE $2 BETTING INNOVATION

SOUTH CHINA'S CHALLENGE

First Division

Pardoe played his usual good game; he passed very well, and tried to keep his team together, but he lacked support from his forwards. In the latter stages of the game he made a few changes which made a world of difference.

The Chinese gave the Gunners no rest, and continued to pepper the goal, their third goal coming when Hopkins tried a "first timer" and missed to let Lal Shui-wing through. From the centre kick South China again went through and Lal Shui-wing put his team one more goal ahead with a beautiful drive to the roof of the net.

Artillery Line-up Changed

At this stage Pardoe considered it expedient to make some change in his team. Canny went to left back, Hopkins to centre-forward, Edmunds to inside-right, and Hall to left half.

Seemingly inspired by the change round the Artillery improved splendidly, Edmunds scoring their first and only goal after receiving from Smith. It was only a flash in the pan, however, the Artillery being again compelled to assume the role of defenders. Cheuk Shek-kam scored South China's fifth goal just before the end, receiving a fine pass from Young Sui-yick, he darted in to leave Durham standing with a powerful drive.

Artillery:—Durham, Wroe, Hopkins, Canny, Borden, Harris, Smith, Hall, Edmunds, Woods, and Knight.

South China "B":—Wong Wa-kai; Yu Hing-yuen, Chung Chi-yung; Tong Kwan, Lam Tak-po, Young Chi-cheung; Lee Shek-yau, Chek Shek-kam, Tang King-kee, Lal Shui-wing and Young Sui-yick.

Strange, had a great day, and apparently revelled in the state of the ground. In defence and in his clearances he was always well on hand to acquit himself well. He received valuable help from Gamble, who, though his play was somewhat unscientific, was generally found where he was most needed.

In the Club goal Rodger gave an impeccable display, and was extremely good when hard-pressed.

Of the East Lanes forwards, Horner was undoubtedly the best, though he, like his inside men, was very uncertain in front of goal. The wingers were neglected for the majority of the game, but Salmon, who took over the inside berth late in the game, lived up to the play considerably.

Forwards Neglected

Lawton and his two aides were each very sound in blocking movements and in their passing, such as it was, but their efforts from their own half, to which they clung tenaciously, did little or nothing to help their forwards. The consequence was that the forwards had to fall back in an endeavour to get the ball, thus having to make a great deal more headway when actually in possession.

Swain and Gorman were very sound and Oxford in goal, and little work to do.

For a lengthy period exchanges were even, and Howe at one end, and Horner at the other went very close with fast shots. The Club eventually took the lead, when from a perfect pass from Robertson, Fowler centred nicely to Howe who made no mistake.

Despite many good attempts by the Club forward line, they could not add another and the East Lanes drew level when Rodger, in saving an oblique-shot from Tuley, punched across the goal-mouth, and Salmon rushed the ball into the net.

Club:—Rodger, Gamble, Strange, Robertson, Peto-Hunt, Baldwin, Fowler, Drown, Howe, Tavlin and Sloan.

East Lanes:—Oxford, Swain, Gorman, Smith, Lawton, North, Salmon, O'Donnell, Horner, Wood and Tuley.

EASTERN AFRAID TO TACKLE

South China Score Six Times

SILVA AND SABHAM ONLY PLAYERS TO SHINE

South China experienced no difficulty in beating the Eastern Athletic at Caroline Hill yesterday, overwhelming them by six clear goals.

South China were far the better team and fully deserved their win; another six goals would not have been less than they merited on the run of the play.

The Eastern were badly frightened—they seldom went for the man with the ball, but kept at a respectable distance and thus allowed them to get within scoring distance throughout the game. J. F. da Silva played a great game in goal for Eastern, but he could not perform miracles behind a very weak defence.

The first goal of the game was scored by Lal Wing-on soon after the commencement of the game, and, although they kept on driving shots at goal South China could not increase their score before the interval.

On resuming, the Eastern were again citadel was subjected to further heavy attacks, and da Silva was called upon to give of his best. Hui Yui-kwong scored South China's second goal some five minutes after the resumption. Receiving the ball from Wai Chok-ke, he dribbled his way through the defence and gave Silva no possible chance of reaching a low drive to the bottom of the net.

A Gift Goal

The third goal was almost a gift goal, Cheung Fak-fai, receiving the ball just outside the penalty area, running in and flashing a terrific shot. Cheung Fak-fai also added the fourth goal when, dribbling through from the half way line, he neatly placed the ball in the bottom right hand corner of the net.

Sabham, Eastern's skipper, had bad luck when, after a brilliant run down the field, he misdirected a shot wide of the post. Sabham played a great game and was the only member of his side who did not seem frightened to tackle.

Cheung Fak-fai completed his "hat-trick" about ten minutes from the end of play when he dribbled the ball across the goalmouth and, pivoting, screwed the ball back with a left-footed shot. Tai Wing-on added the sixth point just before time when he sent in a perfect drive from the wing.

South China:—Tang Ya-wing; Wong Yui-nang, Ma Ping-chong; Henry Young, Yau Wa-hing, Wai Chor-ke; Tai Wing-on, Li Wing-on, Hui Yui-kwong, Cheung Fak-fai and Kwak Yau-loy.

Eastern:—J. F. da Silva; Lal Ting-choi, Lau Kim-fai; Sung Wing-sing, Ng Ying-kay, Fung Yui-wai; Lee Bing-tong, Fung Choi-po, Cheung Sui-hong, Wong Sui-ting and M. Sabham.

ARTILLERY LUCKY TO WIN

Scrappy Forward Line Disappoint

HALF-BACK SCORES TWICE

In spite of wretched weather conditions a keen game was seen at Sookunpoo yesterday where the Artillery were rather lucky to beat the Young Indians by 3 goals to 2.

Two of the Gunner's goals were long shots scored from almost the half-way line, the goal-keeper being unable to hold the slippery ball.

O. M. Omar and Yusuf combined well together and made a very dangerous wing. A. M. Omar, at full back, played a steady game and often crossed over to assist Arculli.

The Artillery forwards played a scrappy game, while Morton, the left half-back, was their most enterprising player. He registered two goals, an unusual feat for a half-back.

Morton gave the Artillery a two-goal lead in the first half, both his goals being hard drives from almost the half-way line, and both taking the Young Indians' goal-keeper completely by surprise.

The Gunners went further ahead shortly after the interval when Butterfield lobbed the ball into the goalmouth for Fisher to get his head to it.

Worthington then handled the ball in the penalty area and A. M. Omar scored from the spot kick to reduce the arrears.

In the last fifteen minutes of the game, Hammett further reduced the deficit by scoring a good goal. Young Indians:—L. Hammett; O. M. Omar, Arculli; Baker, Raznek, Markar; Ahmed, Hammett, Abbas, A. M. Omar and Yusuf.

Royal Artillery: Mackerell; Price; Taylor; Worthington, Hunt; Morton; Rivers; Butterfield, Birmingham; Fisher.

BLAKE'S PECULIAR PREDICAMENT

Scores Winning Goal Against Old Club

UNIVERSITY BEAT KOWLOON

On the Kowloon Ground the University surprised Kowloon's second string, defeating them by 2 goals to 1.

The University were one goal in the lead at half-time, but after the interval Kowloon drew level. A few minutes from the end, however, Blake, who last season played outside left for the premier Kowloon team scored the winning goal against his former Club.

The University deserved their victory. Their forward line combined well, and they had more of the game than their opponents.

Kowloon opened strongly but the University soon assumed the mastery, the Kowloon defence being pierced time after time. K. L. Goo scored the only goal in this half.

Five minutes after the interval Kowloon were awarded a penalty and Everest scored from the spot kick, the ball slipping through the goal-keeper's hands into the net.

The University kept up the pressure and were rewarded with victory through a goal scored by Blake in the closing minutes.

University:—Lim, Lee, Lee, Symons, H. N. Lee, Gorachenka, Tan, Yung, Goo, Reed, and Blake.

Kowloon:—Boyes, Cutter, Hickman; Everest, Gilchrist, Tillery; Humphreys, Arnold, Lee, MacDonald and G. White.

EAST LANCS SCORE FIVE TIMES

Club Play Ragged Game

RYDINGS SPARLES IN MILITARY ATTACK

The East Lanes enjoyed a comfortable win in their match against the Club on the Club ground yesterday, scoring five times without reply.

The Club were in distressing need of organisation, there being many occasions when a good pass was lost to an out-of-position player. Compared to their opponents their sense of combination was nil.

Where one player could advantageously tackle a man, two would go, and in consequence, for the greater part of the game, with few exceptions, they lost touch with their corresponding partners.

The East Lanes, on the other hand, held together splendidly and made the most of anything which came their way, experiencing no great difficulty in finding their opponents' net.

Rydings was outstanding in the forward line, the major portion of the more dangerous raids emanating from him.

Botting and Hands were also well to the fore, causing the Club defence considerable worry.

Powers and his halves concentrated to a great extent on the attack, and left Steele and Harwood to deal with what little work the Club attack provided.

Bad Positioning

The Club forwards, either from lack of support or from their own bad positioning, found great difficulty in taking possession, but in the few attacks launched, Williams and Fisher did well.

Nicholl played well in the pivotal position and worked hard throughout. The bright spot of the Club side appeared in the second last

Mr. Taylor's Success

The Bodega proved he was fit again by winning the Carnarvon Stakes without being fully extended by Mr. Taylor, who rode a well-judged race, though it appeared that he had left it a little too late. Little Beauty ran well, and very nearly won after a powerful finish. Hill for Leather was only half a length behind for third place, while Soldier of Italy was fourth and Delightful Chance fifth.

Valorous Wins

The 103 of the 523 successful backers of the first leg 'who chose the Bodega for the Kimberly Handicap had a rude shock when the 1932 champion finished nowhere. Budge went out into the lead, followed by Wayward Stag and Valorous, the favourite, and this order was maintained until the Rock where the field closed up very quickly, especially Flying Tourist and Royal Flush. Coming into the straight it was soon evident that Valorous would win, but he was nearly caught by Wayward Stag who came back a second time. Flying Tourist finished strongly to draw level with What A Chance, which paid $8.10. Not far behind were Racing Boy and Great Hall.

There were 171 backers of Valorous in the "daily double," and they were rewarded with $11.60 for their $2 bet.

Racing Heart's Victory

As expected Able Amazon was not sent out in the Canberra Handicap, and in her absence Racing Heart won. Mr. Wonder's entrant is seen to much better advantage on a dry track, and yesterday was clocked at the slower time of 1.51.2, which was 3-4/5 secs. slower than Nell Gwyn's mile record.

Bronze Era and Nell Gwyn shot out into the lead with Just That and Night Star in close attendance. At the foot of the stands Night Star had moved up to third, but last year's champion lost distance in the back straight. She, however, came back well after the Rock and was then well in the race, but shot her bolt soon after.

Nell Gwyn did not last the pace and Bronze Era failed sensationally in the home straight where Racing Heart, which showed a fine finish, and Just That fought out a thrilling duel for first place with Saucy Face offering a most unexpected challenge—he paid $18.80, the highest dividend of the day.

High Finance and Bag Tor engaged in a keen struggle for fourth place. Five minutes after the interval Kowloon were awarded a penalty and Everest scored from the spot kick, the ball slipping through the goal-keeper's hands into the net.

The University kept up the pressure and were rewarded with victory through a goal scored by Blake in the closing minutes.

University:—Lim, Lee, Lee, Symons, H. N. Lee, Gorachenka, Tan, Yung, Goo, Reed, and Blake.

Kowloon:—Boyes, Cutter, Hickman; Everest, Gilchrist, Tillery; Humphreys, Arnold, Lee, MacDonald and G. White.

Favourite Again Wins

Mr. Caplan provided an upset when he brought in Racing Triumph second to Fi Fa, the favourite, in the last race—only half a length separated the two.

Ironsides set the pace, but early showed lack of stamina, and it was left to Bold Commander and Colombo to take up the running. Fi Fa showed up well in the back straight and looked every inch the winner coming into the home stretch. Racing Triumph, however, came quickly through from nowhere, and very nearly did the trick. Colombo was third and Vago fourth.

The cash sweep first prize was line, of defence where both Krilovsky and Binnie making tremendous efforts to block the many dangerous raids.

Rydings opened the scoring for the East Lanes after several good movements had been blocked, and Botting added another almost immediately. Binnie then had the misfortune to miskick, and the ball rolled into his own net. Rydings and Hands, the former after a neat run through, completed the scoring.

Club:—Pace; Krilovsky, Binnie; McKellar, Nicholls; Blitter; Fisher; Williams, Farrow, Carr and Stevens.

East Lanes:—Harwood; Harwood, Steele, Powley, Powers, Bickersley; Swain, Hands, Botting, Rydings and Griffin.

CANTON TO CHECK THE SMUGGLING OF WOLFRAM TO H. K.

Private Exploiters
Active

JAPAN MAKES PURCHASES ON
CHEAP CANTON MARKET

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday.

With wolfram being sold here as a government monopoly, the Provincial Department of Reconstruction is making every effort to check smuggling of this mineral by private exploiters from their mines to outport buyers.

Most of the mineral resources in Kwangtung are wolfram, which can be obtained by manual labour. Such deposits are found in abundance in northern, eastern, and western regions of this province.

An wolfram is useful in connection with the manufacture of armaments, this ore is in good demand by buying agents in Hong Kong on behalf of arsenal works in Germany, Czechoslovakia, France, Great Britain, and the United States. Even Japan finds that it is cheaper to buy wolfram from Canton than elsewhere.

The government monopolist does not mine the wolfram, but simply buys it from the exploiting companies, which are therefore trying to smuggle the mineral direct to Hong Kong and sell it at a better price. As a result, the provincial department of reconstruction which operates the national products sales office, is taking steps to prevent smuggling.

DESIGNATED ROUTES

Sellers of wolfram to the government monopoly office are now required to ship their goods along certain designated routes, and those consignments that deviate from the fixed courses are considered as smuggled minerals and are subject to confiscation.

Another way to prevent smuggling is the requirement of a transportation license at a fee of $10 a shipment, and in each consignment the wolfram must not be less than 25 tons.

Further opening of wolfram mines are prohibited by the provincial authorities, because the present stock cannot yet be disposed. Outport buyers complain that the prices are too high, and are waiting for them to come down a little.

The price of this mineral has decreased from $120 H.K. to $60 H.K. a picul.

EUROPEAN FIRMS ARE THREATENED BY CANTON TAX

Ignore Suggestion
Of Boycott

CLAIMED UNOFFICIAL

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday.

Circular letters addressed by the Canton Chamber of Commerce demanding foreign firms to pay the business tax on October 15 on the pain of an economic boycott were received only by those commercial houses in the Chinese city and not those in Shamoon, it was learned to-day.

The letters recalled that the managers, or managing directors, of foreign firms in the city were requested to attend a meeting at the Chamber's headquarters on August 2 where they were to be informed why they should pay the business tax. Very few foreign merchants went to the meeting, which was eventually called off.

Efforts are being made by the Provincial Department of Finance to collect the business tax first from those foreign firms in the city, then those in Shamoon, and finally those in other treaty ports of Kwangtung.

Foreign merchants here wonder why the Chamber takes the trouble to press for the payment of the business tax when this is the function of the Provincial Department of Finance. These letters are, therefore, disregarded in spite of the accompanying threat.

KING HOLDS PRIVY COUNCIL

Most Representative In Recent Years

FORMAL CONSENT TO PRINCE GEORGE'S MARRIAGE

London, Yesterday. His Majesty the King held a Privy Council at Buckingham Palace yesterday at which His Majesty gave his formal consent to the marriage of his son, Prince George to Princess Marina of Greece.

The Council was one of the most representative held in recent years. Two members of the Royal family, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, were present, and the Council was the first state function in which the Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, had participated since his return from a health tour in Canada.

By a fortunate occurrence three statesmen who hold, or have held, the office of Prime Minister in Dominion Governments were also in London and attended the Council. They were Mr. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, General Smuts, Minister of Justice and formerly Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, and Mr. Stanley Bruce, High Commissioner for Australia and formerly Prime Minister of the Commonwealth.

Others present were the Lord President of the Council, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Lord Chancellor, Lord Sankey, the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, and the Archbishop of Canterbury. A document approving Prince George's marriage, engrossed on a parchment, was prepared and the great seal of England was affixed. Their Majesties the King and Queen later entertained members of the Council to a luncheon at which Prince George was present.—British Wireless Service.

CHINESE RAILWAY MAGNATE AT HOME

Studying Management Of English Railways

London, Yesterday. Mr. Huang Pei-tai, managing director of the Nanking-Shanghai Hangchow Railways told Reuters yesterday, on his arrival in London from America, that he was on what was partly a pleasure and partly a business trip. He said he was most anxious to see something of the management of the English railways, owing to their close association with Chinese railways. Mr. Huang Pei-tai is staying in England for about a fortnight and will then tour Europe, returning to China via Siberia.—Reuter.

Hong Kong Personalities

Governor of the District of Damão, in Portuguese India. On being transferred to Macao, where he served for a short period with the Artillery Corps, he was appointed A.D.C. to the Acting-Governor during the absence in Portugal of His Excellency the Governor, Lieut-Col. Antonio Jose Bernardino de Miranda, who attended the Imperial Conference.

REPRESENTS MACAO

The Marquis attended the celebration in Hong Kong of His Majesty King George's birthday, representing Macao as a special delegate for the occasion.

In addition to his distinguished career as a soldier, the Marquis is a fine sportsman.

The popularity of his appointment with his own countrymen can be judged from an extract from the Macao journal, A Voz de Macao, when commenting on his appointment to Hong Kong:

"This appointment is perfectly right, as the nominee's personal qualities recommend him to this important position."

By marriage, the Marquis is connected with the direct descendants of D. Philippa of Lancaster, the English Princess who married D. John the First of Portugal, father of Prince Henry the Navigator.

The nine previous sketches were of Sir William Bontton Kt., the Hon. Mr. W. H. Bell, Sir William Horrell Kt., C.I.E., LL.D., M.A., the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D., Commander F. Elliott, O.B.E., LL.D., Mr. Eric Mitchell O.B.E., Mr. T. B. Wilson, and M. Soulangue Telsier.

What a day for Hong Kong when that happens! We shall then see our own British machines flying through to Singapore, and possibly American and German planes, as well as British machines, flying into the Colony from China—not to mention the possibility of there being large numbers of Chinese planes too.

I cannot see why this should not materialise. If the Americans are keen and bring the weight of their arguments to bear upon the Chinese Government, in addition to the arguments of the British Government, there should certainly be a loophole through which we could see light penetrating.

LOCAL EFFORTS NECESSARY. A certain amount of keenness in the right quarters is what is necessary, so that when the time comes, and the combined British and American representation to the Chinese Government meets with success, it will not be a hollow victory, and the efforts thrown away on nothing.

After all, permission to fly over China is not much good if there is no air-mail to fly over it. One might just as well strive for permission to fly over the Antarctic Ocean.

I feel, however, that, in spite of the local Government's rather sleepy attitude towards commercial aviation, there is the right amount of keenness in non-official circles to bring the matter to a head.

A good modern aerodrome will be very necessary, with hangars and land equipment, as well as an efficient ground staff. These are items which are about to effect the Government rather than individuals.

All these things have to be borne in mind, and it is better that they should be so now, rather than after the whole business gets moving, and we are left standing, only half prepared.

SCOUTS CONCERT AT CHINA FLEET CLUB

Prominent Local Artists To Assist

OCTOBER 24 FIXED

One of the best Concerts of the season will be presented at the China Fleet Club Theatre on Wednesday October 24 by the Scouts of the 4th Hong Kong (Murray) and 4th Kowloon (Garrison) Troops.

The programme, which is being produced almost entirely by local artists, is a model of variety. Every minute will be fully accounted for, and items will follow each other in quick succession.

The following popular artists will contribute to the evening's entertainment:—Mr. Victor Sanders, Professor F. Gonzales, Miss Helen and Stella Ho, Rev. J. N. Lewis Bryan, Mrs. Sinclair, Messrs. Grenham and Ferguson, and the talented Quartette of the Lincolnshire Regiment—Messrs. King, Trow, Kime, and Goble.

The Scouts themselves will, of course, present a Grand Opening and Close as well as an item in each half.

The proceeds of the Concert are to be devoted to the funds of the 4th Hong Kong and 4th Kowloon Troops and there is no doubt that they will find little difficulty in filling the Theatre.

Tickets at $2—(reserved) and $1—(unreserved) are now available either from the Scouts or from the Anderson Music Co. Further particulars will be published later.

THE PASSING HOUR

One is horrified to think how many thousands of cheery hosts must have "calculated to annoy" their neighbours. The only suggestion I can think of to secure "safety first" is that possibly the first and classical edition might be reprinted for use in Hong Kong.

CALCULATION

THE other point in this cause celebre that I think may be worthy of comment is the use by the draughtsman of the word "calculated" in the section which under which the prosecution took place. The ruling of the Bench that of the two alternative meanings "intended to annoy" and "likely to annoy" the meaning least favourable to the defendants must be adopted is of course final. What I object to is the use of ambiguous expressions in Ordinances and Regulations when there are perfectly clear words available. The draughtsman's work is never easy; but some years of experience in the art taught me that much ambiguity can be avoided by observing a few golden rules. One of the first should be "in legal work avoid journalese." The calculus was used by the Romans as an abacus is by a Chinese clerk, and the whole associations of the word are with intention and mental purpose. The use of the word to mean "likely to" or "liable to" or "capable of" is due to the linguistic obtuseness of the casual reporter. I remember a report of a case in which the Court found that death was entirely accidental, which was reported as "death due to an overdose of sleeping draught calculated to be fatal"—the very reverse of the finding of the Court. We all know that it is impossible to tell what a law means till it has had the benefit of "judicial interpretation," but half the interpretation is necessary because the draughtsman has failed to stick to good English.

THIRD PARTY LOOMS IN AMERICA

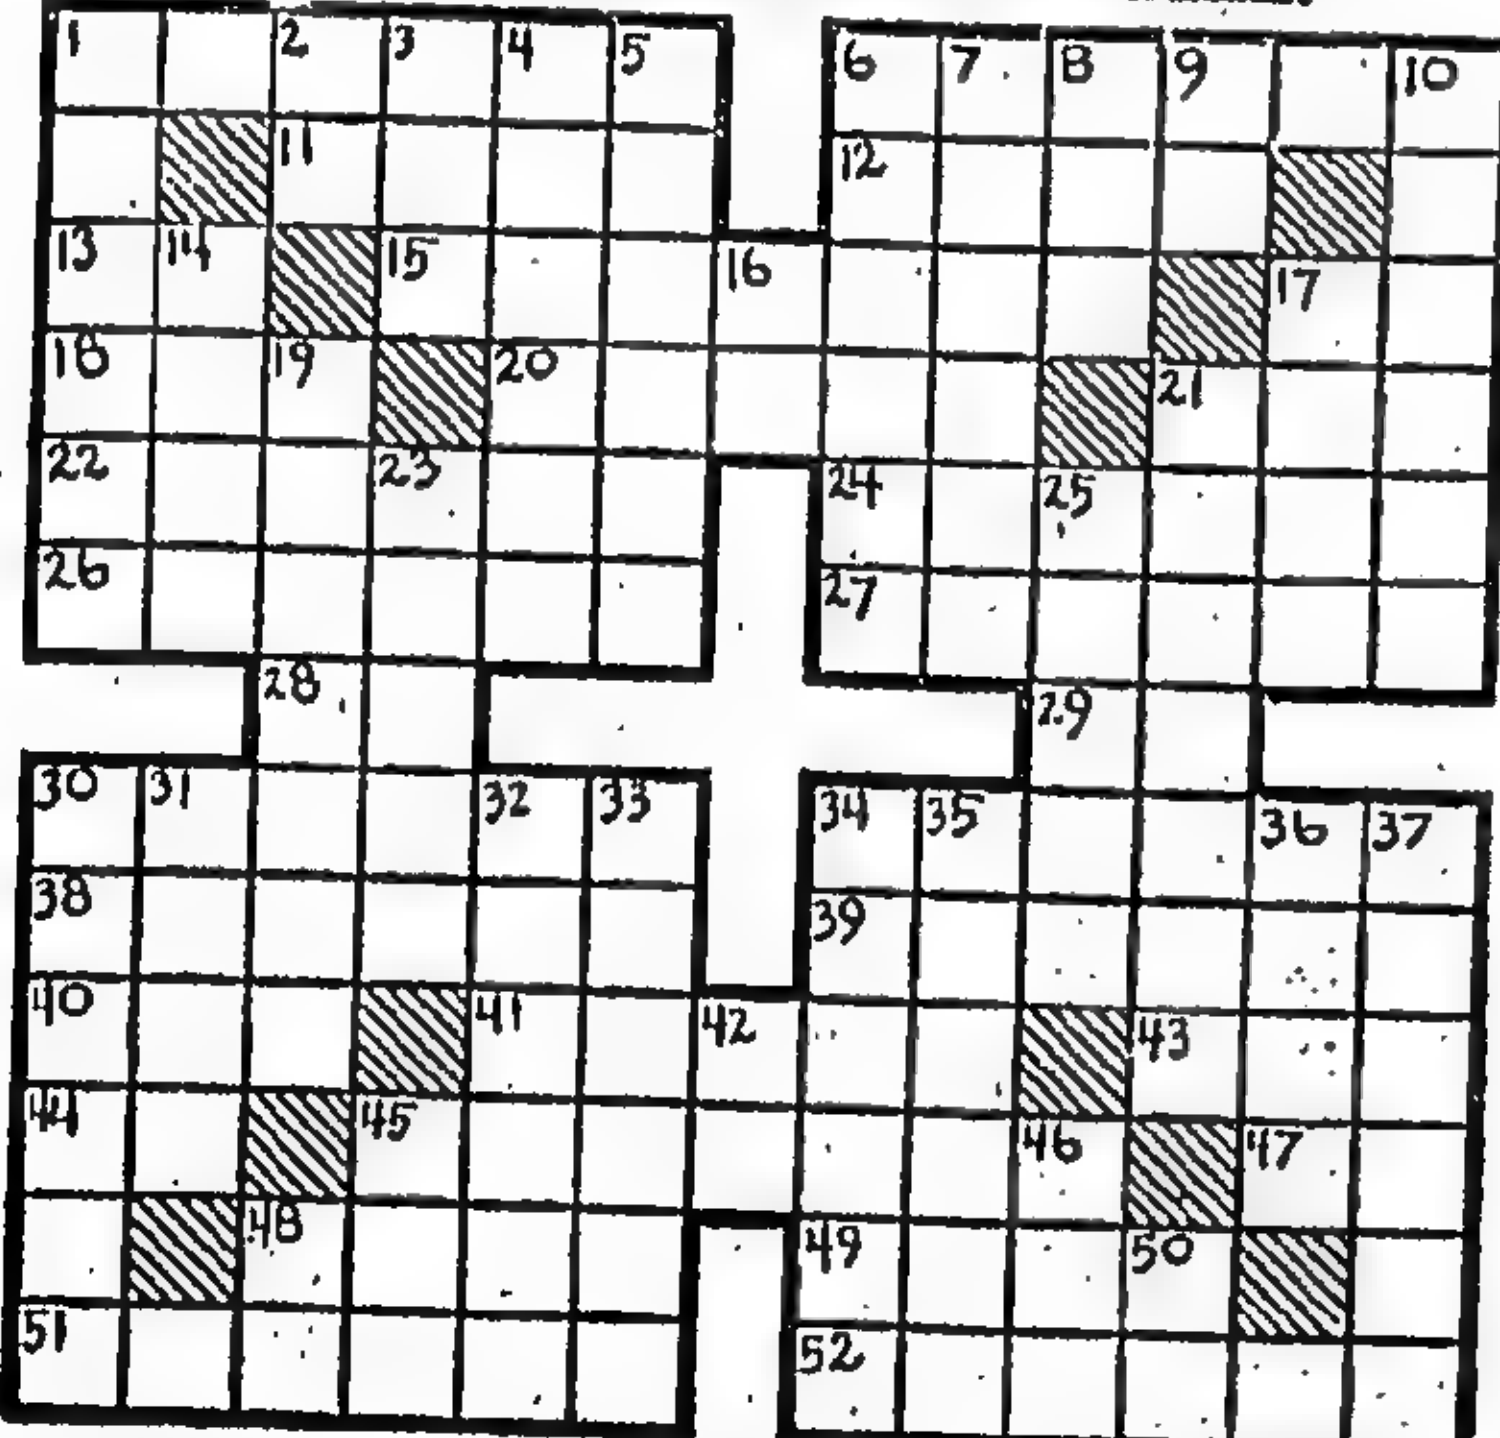

Warning Note Struck By Borah

New York, Yesterday. Senator Borah has predicted the rise of a third Party: unless the Republicans and Democrats destroy monopolies, properly distribute wealth, and cease flouting the Constitution of the American Republic. The Senator stated that the foreign cotton market must be destroyed and added that he favoured a Gold and Silver currency Standard.—United Press, New S. E. Levy and Company.

EAST LANCES CHALK UP 13 GOALS

Railway Routed

At Chatham Road yesterday the East Lances Rgt. completely overwhelmed the Railway team by the huge score of thirteen goals to nil. After their heavy defeat last week it would appear that the newcomers are not at present strong enough to compete in this class of football.

The East Lances goal-keeper was never once called on to save a shot, and the game resulted in shooting practice for the military forwards. Goals were scored by: Sandford (5), Mather (2), Hinchcliffe (2), Greenway, J. Pritchard, I. and Walkden, I. Goldworthy scored from a penalty.

ANGLICAN CHURCH GARDEN FETE

Proves Success Despite Inclement Weather

OVER $700 COLLECTED

In spite of rainy weather, the Garden Fete at the Kowloon Tong Anglican Church yesterday afternoon proved a great success, well over $700 being collected.

The fete was opened by Mrs. R. O. Hull, wife of the Bishop of Hong Kong.

The Aunt Sally and Coconut shy side-shows, generally the most popular, had to be abandoned owing to the weather the other attractions such as lightning sketches and the gold fish pond, however, proved very popular.

The "funny goods" and the "woolies" stalls, containing articles made by the members of the church were sold very early in the afternoon. These stalls, with their big variety of articles, were very well decorated.

The following were the stalls and side-shows:—Lightning Sketches (Mr. Scotcher); Treasure Hunt (Miss D. J. Lee and Mr. E. C. Johnson); Bran Tub and Fish Pond (Miss L. Sue and Mr. H. Cheung); Cigarettes, Drinks, and Ice Cream (Mr. G. S. Ladd); Gold Fish (Mr. E. A. Lee); Fancy Goods (Mrs. Credland and Mrs. Bertram); Woolies (Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Peters); White Elephant (Mrs. Jox); Flowers (Mrs. Goddard); Pickles and Ham (Mrs. Ashby); Sweets (Mrs. Woody) and Lavender Girl (Miss D. Tollun).

Treasure Hunt Winners

The winners of the treasure hunt were:

Ladies:—Mrs. Ashby, Miss Abing, Mrs. Shea and Miss M. Lay. Gentlemen: Messrs. E. S. Cunningham, E. F. Shea, F. C. Clarno and H. Q. Hunt.

Girls: Misses V. Jex, J. Banker, D. Freeman and U. Jex. Boys: Masters F. Lay, D. Anderson, F. Wento, and J. Wong. Mrs. Lay won the weight guessing competition.

The committee were:—Chairman, Rev. N. V. Halward, M.A., M.C., Hon. Secretary, Mrs. F. C. Clarno, Hon. Treasurer, Mr. F. C. Clarno, Mrs. Scotcher, Miss R. Mowfung, Miss L. Sue, Mr. H. L. Langley, Mr. R. Ashton Hill, Mr. E. C. Johnson, Mr. S. Jox.

The utilisation of the tennis courts for dancing was welcome in view of the large number of guests. Shortly after midnight the gathering adjourned for a buffet supper, when His Excellency, in a brief speech, eulogised the present regime in Portugal and proposed the toast to the President of Portugal, General Antonio Oscar de Fragoso Carmona.

Following supper, dancing was continued until an early hour in the ballroom of Government House.

Among the guests were the Commander and officers of H.M.S. Cleopatra, the river gunboat at present stationed at Canton.

EXCHANGE OF GOOD WISHES
On Friday, His Excellency the Governor of Hong Kong, Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., sent a telegram of good wishes to His Excellency the Governor of Macao, to which the latter replied: "Extremamente sensibillado pelas amaveis palavras que vossa por si e pela Colonia de Hongkong se dignam enviar-me e a Colonia de Macau em seu penhoramento telegrama e ninguas mais provas do cordatidao com que quiz honraros muito reconhecimento agradeço em meu nome e no da Colonia de Macau as gentilezas fazendo sinceros votos pela felicidade do grande povo ingles e em particular da Colonia de Hongkong.—Miranda, Governador."

His Excellency the Governor of Macao also sent a telegram of loyalty to the Government of Portugal.

CHINESE FINE ART

Mr. Fung, who himself is well-known among the Chinese as a painter, writer and translator of note, was presented on his 60th anniversary with more than 300 works of art by his many friends throughout the country.

Mr. Fung, whose latest book in Chinese entitled, "Illustrative Chinese Calligraphy," recently published, has served the local Government for over 27 years, and has, since his retirement, travelled extensively throughout China. His paintings have been greatly admired by fellow-artists wherever he went during his tour. Since his return to the Colony he has written several books on painting and calligraphy.

Among the most interesting paintings at the exhibition are by two Colony artists, Mr. Sui Ming-cho and Miss Tam Yuet-sik. Landscapes by two young Hong Kong girls Misses Kwan Wing-chuen and Cheung Wai-tan, are also on view.

In addition, decorative fans, with special engravings, scrolls, poems, landscapes, and calligraphy representing different periods of Chinese penmanship, are also to be seen, from the "Shun" writing up to the present day.

Special mention should be made of paintings by Messrs. Li Fung-ting, Cheung Kok-cho, Chow Shung-wan and Tam Wing-kwong, all of Shanghai.

The exhibition, which was opened yesterday, will be on view until to-night.

APPEAL TO PUBLIC TO AID
ACCURATE COMPILATION

The attention of readers is again called to the fact that it will soon be too late for them to have their entries included in the 1935 issue of the Dollar Directory, which is now being compiled, and everyone is urged to co-operate by sending information at once to the offices of the Dollar Directory Company, No. 3 A, Wyndham Street.

Thousands of blanks have been posted to firms and residents, including all those formerly listed, as well as over a thousand who have not been listed in the former issues. Because there are so many removals every year, residents are earnestly requested to return the blanks, either confirming the address published in the last issue or giving their new address.

An entries are printed in the Directory absolutely free of charge, without even any obligation to purchase a copy, it is most unreasonable for persons to neglect the matter or fail to assist in providing an accurate and complete directory for the Colony.

For the first time in the history of the Dollar Directory, the 1935 issue will contain many full pages of attractive advertisements, giving much additional information about Hong Kong firms.

ROSE ROOM RE-OPENING

The re-opening of the Rose Room, an outstanding event in the social life of the Colony, is to be marked by the celebration of a Gala Night on Saturday, November 10, on which occasion the Management will arrange entertainment both novel and diverting.

They were married, too. But—Last week the bridegroom was ordered to leave in a month for Iraq for two and a half years—alone.

He offered to postpone the wedding. But no, the bride was prepared to go ahead.

She is having a honeymoon, at least. Then she will go back to her parents—for those two and a half years.

MOTERING NOTES - -

Big British Bus Orders

100 Double-Deckers For Birmingham

TRAILERS FOR UNION

British vehicle manufacturers have recently received many big orders, says, "Motor Transport." One of the largest single orders for buses placed by a municipality has been given to the Daimler Co. Ltd., by Birmingham Corporation. It is for 100 double-deck buses.

Another Corporation, Manchester, have also recently placed a large order. This is for 30 Crossley and 10 Leyland buses.

A fleet of 22 trolley-buses is being built in London for the Durban Municipality, South Africa. When in service it will be, it is stated, the largest fleet operating in the Union.

Thirty-three buses have been ordered by the Irish Railways from Leyland Motors, Ltd., and John I. Thornycroft and Co., Ltd., have received an order for 20 buses from the Egyptian State Railways.

The South African Railways have ordered 55 trailers from an Ipswich firm, Ransomes, Sims and Jefferies, Ltd.

MEASURING ROAD SHOCKS

Ingenious Instrument
At Teddington

ELECTRICALLY OPERATED

Apparatus produced at that wonder workshop, the National Physical Laboratory, Teddington, now enables the effect of road surfaces on vehicles, and vice versa, to be accurately measured. At the N.P.L. recently (says "Nitor" in "The Motor Cycle") I watched the apparatus in operation on a six-wheeled lorry.

Briefly, the device takes the form of an electrically operated accelerometer and load gauge that is fitted to the rear axle of the vehicle. Road shocks are "felt" by the instruments and transferred in the form of electric currents to recording dials in the driver's cab.

The apparatus is said to be adaptable to any type of vehicle, and it should be of particular value to the motor and tyre industries and to road authorities.

BULLET-PROOF CARS FOR CUBA

Apparatus To Baffle
Pursuers

Ten bullet-proof cars been supplied to the Cuban Government by an American firm. Although these cars look like ordinary saloons they are made of bullet-proof steel and have bullet-proof windows and tyres.

Machine guns, rifles, ammunition, tear-gas bombs and gas masks are carried in a space between the front and back seats, and by turning a valve it is said to be possible to hide the car from a pursuer by a smoke screen!

FIRST DIESEL LORRY IN SOVIET

Successful Tests

The first diesel-driven lorry designed in the U.S.S.R. has successfully carried out preliminary road tests for fuel consumption in Moscow.

It was built at the Yaroslavl works, and better results are expected after further adjustments have been made.

SHORT SUIT LEADS

(By LADY RHODES)

IN addition to the inevitable revolution in bidding methods brought about by the introduction of Contract Bridge, there is also a tendency for methods of play to alter.

Among these changes one of the most important is the opening from a short worthless suit against a No Trump declaration.

This lead is now adopted by many players when their partners have not bid and their own hands contain no long suit that seems worth while trying to establish.

The principle of the short suit or "waiting" lead has always been admitted when playing against a Trump declaration. From such a hand, for instance, as

S.—9 6 4 H.—Q 8 6
D.—K 10 6 4 C.—K 9 8

any experienced player will open with the 9 or 6 of Spades against a suit declaration.

But, playing against No Trumps, the practice has hitherto been to open with the conventional fourth best Diamond.

Let us consider this lead and assume that the declaration is three No Trumps. From the high card strength which the opponents have shown by their bid it is very unlikely that the suit can be established without the loss of two tricks. Even if this can be done, there are only two tricks in the suit left for the leader to make and, even should both her possible re-entries actually take tricks, the contract will not be defeated.

On the other hand, if the leader's partner has no honour in the suit, the best chance to make two tricks is to wait for it to be led. The declarer, for instance, may hold four to the A.Q.J. and may have to try for three tricks in the suit in order to make her contract.

On the whole, therefore, the lead of Spades will probably do the least harm. Neither opponent is likely to hold more than four Spades. (I am assuming, of course, that they have not bid that suit during the auction.) If the leader's partner has no strength in Spades, no harm is done, as, after running off four tricks in the suit, the declarer will have to attack something else. Even if the partner has a guarded honour, that honour can in any case be captured by a finesse.

Change the hand now to:

S.—9 6 H.—Q 8 6
D.—K 10 6 4 2 C.—K 9 8

Here the chances of establishing the Diamonds in two rounds are little, if any, better. But if the suit can be so established and the leader's two possible re-entries brought in before the declarer can make 9 tricks, the contract will be defeated. The opening lead of a small Diamond is, therefore, a better proposition and is probably the best that can be made.

Even with:

The Interlopers

"Neighbour," he said presently, "do as you please if your men come first. It was a fair compact. But as for me, I've changed my mind. If my men are the first to come you shall be the first to be helped, as though you were my guest. We have quarrelled like devils all our lives over this stupid strip of forest, where the trees can't even stand upright in a breath of wind. Lying here to-night, thinking, I've come to think we've been rather fools; there are better things in life than getting the better of a boundary dispute. Neighbour, if you will help me to bury the old quarrel, I—I will ask you to be my friend."

Georg Znaeym was silent for so long that Ulrich thought, perhaps, he had fainted with the pain of his injuries. Then he spoke slowly and in jerks.

"How the whole region would stare and gabble if we rode into the market square. No one living can remember seeing a Znaeym and a von Gradwitz talking to one another in friendship. And what peace there would be among the forester folk if we ended our feud to-night. And if we choose to make peace among our people there is none other to interfere, no interlopers from outside."

You would come and keep the Sylvester night beneath my roof, and I would come and feast on some high day at your castle. . . . I would never fire a shot on your land, save when you invited me as a guest; and you should come and shoot with me down in the marshes where the wildfowl are. In all the countryside there are none that could hinder if we wished to make peace. I never thought to have wanted to do other than hate you all my life, but I think I have changed my mind about things; too, this last half-hour. And you offered me your wine flask. . . . Ulrich von Gradwitz, I will be your friend."

For a space both men were silent, turning over in their minds the wonderful changes that this dramatic reconciliation would bring about. In the cold, gloomy forest, with the wind tearing in fitful gusts through the naked branches and whistling round the tree-trunks, they lay and waited for the help that would now bring release and success to both parties. And each prayed a private prayer that his men might be the first to arrive, so that he might be the first to show honourable attention to the enemy that had become a friend.

Presently, as the wind dropped for a moment, Ulrich broke silence. "Let's shout for help," he said; "in this hush our voices may carry a little way."

"They won't carry far through the trees and undergrowth," said Georg, "but we can try. Together, then."

The two raised their voices in a prolonged hunting call, "Together again," said Ulrich a few minutes later, after listening in vain for an answering halloo.

"I heard something that time, I think," said Ulrich.

"I heard nothing but the pestilential wind," said Georg hoarsely. There was silence again for some minutes, and then Ulrich gave a joyful cry.

"I can see figures coming through the wood. They are following in the way I came down the hillside." Both men raised their voices in as loud a shout as they could muster.

"They hear us! They're running down the hill towards us," cried Ulrich.

"How many of them are there?" asked Georg.

"I can't see distinctly," said Ulrich; "nine or ten."

"Then they are yours," said Georg; "I had only seven out with me."

"They are making all the speed they can, brave lads," said Ulrich gladly.

"Are they your men?" asked Georg. "Are they your men?" he repeated impatiently as Ulrich did not answer.

"No," said Ulrich with a laugh, the idiotic chattering laugh of a man unstrung with hideous fear. "Who are they?" asked Georg quickly, straining his eyes to see what the other would gladly not have seen.

"Wolves."

THE BUCKET OF WATER PROBLEM

Why does a bucket of water, hung on a spring balance weigh the same at high tide as at low?

The couple of gallons of water is far too small to show on any ordinary balance the tidal pull.

The same answer applies to the question:—

Why a ton weight at the Equator, though it is moving in a circle at 1,000 miles an hour, weighs as much as a ton weight at the Poles?

The circle in which the weight is being swung is so vast in comparison with the weight itself that it makes no difference to the weight.

If it were otherwise, then all Eskimos would be on "all fours" or at least bow-legged.

University Arts Association

Hamlet in Modern Dress.

AMBITIOUS PRODUCTION

Greatly daring, the Hong Kong
University Arts Association last night presented the play of "Hamlet," by William Shakespeare, in modern dress. It is doubtless true, as pointed out in the "Producer's Note" that Hamlet is "not for an age, but for all time" and that in the past, that is to say, up to the Victorian age, it was customary to play "Hamlet" in the costume of the period.

Shakespeare himself doubtless dressed his players in the costume of the period;
but the speech he employed was the speech of the period too.
But it is not the speech of the present day any more than the speech of Congreve, Wycherley, Gay or Ben Jonson is the speech of the present day. Speech changes with dress and our language to-day is as modern as our dress. "Stap my vitals!" etcetera went out with lace ruffles and the wearing of swords.

Suffice it to say that where Barry Jackson and his splendid company failed to convince, one could hardly expect local amateurs to be more successful. But it was an interesting experiment and Mr.
R. R. Campbell has earned the thanks of Hong Kong for presenting this production, even though the majority of the audience failed to see eye to eye with him.

As to the players, one and all deserve great credit for their part in the presentation. There was a general inability to make themselves clearly heard; but much of that was probably due to the faulty acoustics of the hall. The lines were wonderfully memorised and,
on the whole, well delivered; and the Chinese members of the cast, speaking in a language not their own, achieved a veritable tour de force.

For excellent delivery of their lines the palm must be given to the producer, Mr. R. R. Campbell, as Claudius, and Mr. Reginald Woolley, as Hamlet. At times they almost reconciled me to the modern dress.

Mr. Woolley gave an interesting rendering of the "melancholy Dane," (as old actors always used to term him), though he failed, I thought, to catch and express the full meaning of the famous soliloquy. I shall be interested to see Mr. Woolley in other parts. He appears to be an actor of considerable promise.

Mr. Chung Hon Ki greatly amused his audience in the part of Polonius; but I thought he had an unfair advantage over the rest of the cast,
being the only one in fancy dress,
so to speak.

Miss Younne Langley did all that was required of her in the small part of the Queen, but would have been more audible; the same remarks apply to Miss Lo May Hing as Ophelia.

As the customs revenues of Canton are falling, owing to extensive smuggling, the Ministry of Finance desires to establish customs stations in Hong Kong, whereby all goods for Kwang-tung are required to be assessed for duties there. This step would curb smuggling between Hong Kong and places in this province.
The Yau Maru, a Japanese fishing junk of 18 tons, was confiscated
by the Chinese preventive service for smuggling artificial silk into a West River town. The officers and crew of the gunboat Ping
Hai are being detained on a charge of smuggling.

REBEL ATROCITIES REPORTED

The situation now appears to have considerably quietened down, but it is feared that the rebels are preparing a fresh outbreak.

The Home Secretary denies that disturbances occurred at the naval bases at Cadix and Cartagena.
Ten thousand Catalan Separatists demonstrated at Barcelona yesterday and demanded a declaration of independence.

The Spanish President, Senor
Companys, appeared on the balcony and declared that the moment for such a step had not arrived.—Reuters.
